TOWN TOPICS' 29th Annual Appeal Suggests That Christmas Is a Time to Share

When you go shopping this year, trying to stuff bundles of toys and the Christmas goose into the little foreign car because somebody else in the family has the station-wagon today, pause for a moment.

Year 'round, even in this affluent suburb, are men and women and children who live outside that comfortable circle of warm food and too many things to play with, families who must decide whether the welfare check is to be spent on food or fuel, kids who pass by the toy-shop windows with a shrug--what's the point?

To reach these fellow Princetonians, to let them know you know they're there, TOWN TOPICS has, each year for 29 years, asked for contributions to its annual Christmas Appeal.

The Family Service Agency of Princeton administers the fund and decides how it will be spent. The Agency knows how much it will mean to a teen-age boy to get off the streets and into summer camp. Agency workers know you need a boost to lift yourself out of welfare. And, often, a boost just to live.

Each year, TOWN TOPICS dedicates its annual appeal to the memory of Dan D. Coyle, a founder of TOWN TOPICS who died in 1973. He conceived the idea for the fund in 1947, and every year thereafter, until he retired from active participation with TOWN TOPICS in 1970, he wrote the Annual Christmas Appeal. His compassion and his warmth caught the heart of the community and enabled the Family Service Agency to aid hundreds of Princeton residents over the years.

The case histories that follow have been assembled by the Agency from its files. Stories have been altered in ways that will protect the identity of the families involved. The men and women and children helped by your contribution know you helped, but they know, too, that you'll never know who they are.

The charity concept of carrying baskets of food to the poor is as outdated as Little Nell, but this year, Family Service dipped into TOWN TOPICS funds to buy Thanksgiving dinners for some half-dozen Princeton families who would otherwise have had to do without.

Increasingly, Family Service finds that welfare checks simply do not stretch to cover both food and fuel. The price of fuel has gone straight up the chimney and allotments haven't been adjusted to meet the increased cost.

Nor is Social Security adequate. An elderly Princeton woman, living alone in a small house on Social Security, turned to Family Service during a bitter cold spell last January. Emergency TOWN TOPICS money was used to buy a month's supply of fuel, and Family Service arranged with local welfare

Superintendent Edith Francis Lists Plans For Spending Possible $743,599 School Aid

"At first, I thought it would be greedy to ask for the whole $427,599," said school board member Hannah Fox at Tuesday night's board meeting, "but when you see what having it will do for next year's budget, it makes more sense."

She was referring to the amount which, under the new state law, can only be granted to a school board if municipal officials say so. The board will hold a public meeting next Wednesday, December 8, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School, and expects at that time to pass a resolution asking Borough Council and Township Committee for the additional money.

Princeton's school system is allowed by state formula to have a budget increase for next year of about three percent. This "cap" percentage is based on the current net operating budget, so the fatter that budget, the larger the next budget can be.

Acting Superintendent Edith Francis also hopes to get back the $316,000 municipal officials sliced from the present budget after its defeat by the voters last spring. Tuesday night, she presented to board and audience two shopping lists: what she'd like if the system gets the $316,000, what she'd like to do with the $427,599.

Top priority, if she gets the $316,000, is $107,800, representing an increase of 30 percent in teaching materials. Second is $16,000 for repairs, equipment, buildings and grounds, followed by an increase of 30 percent in Blue Cross-Blue Shield, not anticipated when the budget was drawn, and $41,000 representing salary settlements higher than provided in the budget.

With the whole $427,599, she would assign $10,000 toward implementation of T. & E.; $6,000 for a management process for individualized learning centers; $4,000 for reading-skill development management system; $4,000 for a curriculum planning consultant; $20,000 for summer work by a curriculum committee; $10,000 for basic skills improvement needs.

Beyond T. & E.: $150,299 for repair and maintenance of the high school; $17,500 to replace the switchboard system; $38,000 for Valley Road utilities; $12,000 for driver ed., and so on.

Asked by board member Judith Getis whether the superintendent can support all these as required for a thorough and efficient system, Mrs. Francis said yes.

In other business, the board unanimously decided to close schools Monday, January 3, the day of the battle of Princeton. Everyone seems to think school children should be present, and transportation is an insoluble logistical problem.

Allocated $28,866 by the state for compensatory education the board heard a proposal from Mrs. Francis and Charles Huchet, director of student services, to spend it on computation and communication skills in the high school and computation skills in the middle school.

LET'S TALK HOUSING

Informal Discussion Set. Plans to build 100 apartments for the elderly on the west side of the Playhouse will be discussed informally next Tuesday at 8 when the Planning Board meets in Borough Hall.

This isn't an application by Princeton Community Housing, Inc. everyone emphasizes. There aren't any architect's plans, or any economic feasibility studies. In fact, if architect Robert Geddes can't make it, the discussion won't even be held.

Borough Council isn't required by state law to reenact its 1969 resolution of need for such housing. Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week, following talks between Council and PCH.

"PCH just came around to make sure THIS Council feels the same about the need for low and middle-income housing," the mayor said. It does.

Reality Essential. The role of the governing body, the mayor continued, is to work on parking and tax exemption. He'd like to see the zoning ordinance changed "to reflect reality," he said. Right now, the 100 units would require 15 parking spaces per unit, clearly unreasonable for center-city projects and projects for the elderly.

There is also a conflict between this proposal and the Borough's Central Business District Master Plan, which had its eye on that land as the second of the town's parking garages. The mayor said he thinks that, since the Master Plan hasn't yet been implemented by zoning ordinances, it could legally be regarded as only a guide, and not a restriction. PCH's proposal is a conforming use, and won't need use variances.

Like the PCH project in the Township, this one will make payments in lieu of taxes, probably some percentage of gross shelter rents. This will bring in more income than the land now does, as a parking lot, but not as much as it would if it were developed commercially, Mayor Cawley said.

PLANNING FOR PLANNING

At Planning Board. Lining up planning and zoning practices to conform to the state's land use law that goes into effect February 1 is a lengthy and frequently legalistic procedure.

At the Planning Board's December meeting, next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall, the board will vote on a technical re-adoption of Princeton's two master plans - the Borough's, from 1967, and the Township's from 1968. This will keep the plans from being wiped out when the February 1 date arrives. After that action, the board will recommend ordinances that will bring Princeton into compliance with the land use law.

Since Mercer County is on the fringe of the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Council's area and Princeton is on the fringe of Mercer County, the Planning Board isn't sure it wants to select any of the four "futures" outlined by the DVRPC in a recent report. This community, the board feels, may have a closer relationship to the Raritan than to the Delaware, and the board may decide to tell Mercer County it doesn't want to select any of the four plans as Princeton's future.

On Thursday, December 16, the Planning Board will hold the second of two meetings on housing with its consultant, Carl Lindbloom.

PARK A BIT GREENER

$151,000 from State. The path toward Quarry Park was cleared somewhat this week when HUD - the Federal Housing and Urban Development agency - informed the Borough of a $151,000 grant of state Green Acres money to buy the Spruce Street site. The Borough had asked for $152,000, but things are tight everywhere, Mayor Robert W. Cawley observed.

Next step is approval by the state of a pair of appraisers picked by Borough Council from appraisers active in Princeton. If the state doesn't approve them, the Borough must use appraisers already on a state-approved list.

BIOHAZARDS

Biochemist to Talk. A biochemist from the National Institutes of Health will give a public lecture next Wednesday, December 8 on "Public Control of Genetic Engineering."

The speaker, Dr. DeWitt Stetten Jr., is deputy director for science of the NIH, and is former dean of the Rutgers Medical School. He will speak under the auspices of Princeton University at 8:30 p.m. in McCosh 50. The lecture is officials to assume responsibility for her if a similar emergency arose again. Incidentally, Mrs. W. had worried so about fuel, and where she was going to find money to buy it, that she became ill and had to be hospitalized.

Assistance "Invaluable." Living alone with several foster children, Mrs. J. is partially disabled. Her fuel bills, too, were more than she could handle. With another local agency, Family Service paid the cost of a fuel delivery to this household.

"TOWN TOPICS funds are invaluable in filling the cracks in the welfare system," says Paul Kurland, Family Service director. "Welfare simply doesn't cover emergencies. It doesn't cover security deposits for rent, either, and landlords often won't rent without that deposit."

Other government agencies besides welfare often knock on the door with problems. A few months ago, Mr. H. lost his modest job. Fortunately, there was other income: his wife's work as a domestic in a Princeton home. For some time, Mr. and Mrs. H. and their two children lived on her pay as a domestic.

Then, a few weeks ago—on a Friday—the Internal Revenue Bureau garnished Mrs. H's entire salary. Family Service lent the family $25 for week-end food, until county welfare officials could take over the case on Monday.

Pride Brings "Repayments." Money from the TOWN TOPICS fund is not a loan. But Family Service often finds, especially with old people, that it's a matter of pride to pay it back. Sometimes, payment will be $1 a month, and the glow on the face of the elderly man or woman when the last payment is made means more than the money. Other times, payment may be made the very next day, after that crucial check has arrived.

A young mother and her four children are being helped at this very moment because TOWN TOPICS money was there when it was needed. Police in a nearby community approached Family Service asking for emergency money to pay for one night at a motel for this hapless, helpless, fatherless family.

Several agencies were working to help the young mother, but she and her children needed emergency housing while long-range plans were made. Family Service through TOPICS funds, arranged for housing for the family, and they are now counselling with the Agency to make plans for the future.

Battle against Winter Won. The old farmhouse was a happy place in summer, big enough for this family of 11. But when cold winds began to blow through the old boards, the heating bills began to zoom. There were health difficulties which made it essential to have a warm place to live—and almost impossible to work at an extra job to earn money for fuel.

When Family Service came forward with money to buy fuel, they discovered other problems and offered professional help. Now, under Family Service guidance, the family has been told about the Food Stamp program, which has reduced some of their expenses and given them money with which to buy fuel.

Disability Assistance checks keep Mr. and Mrs. A. alive and together. Both are elderly, he is blind, she is confined to a wheel-chair. Because of holiday work schedules, that all-essential check was late getting into the mail. TOWN TOPICS money came to the rescue, providing meals for this couple until their check arrived.

D. is at an age when she ought to be having fun, going to parties, going to school, looking forward eagerly to her 20th birthday. But it hasn't been that way. Her parents dead, family scattered, D. has been living in a household with problems of its own. Drunkenness—increasingly—not enough money, tensions. No place for a troubled young girl.

Independence Achieved. After counselling D. for over a year, Family Service convinced her that she ought to become independent, move to an area where there were more jobs, and eventually become self-supporting. It was the support of TOWN TOPICS money that enabled D. to move out of her unhealthy environment, pay the security deposit on an apartment and start on the road to independence and maturity.

"Family Service is a growing agency," observes William Rhodes, one of the professionals on the staff. "More and more, we're counselling the whole family, not just a single individual and thereby catching potential problems we might not otherwise be aware of."

For the past year, Mr. and Mrs. C. have been overpowered by troubles, their marriage endangered. Mr. C's heavy drinking was affecting the young children. Mrs. C. felt more and more insecure, troubled by the lack of skills that kept her from getting a job.

The alcoholism treatment program at Family Service—which encompasses the whole family—marital counselling, and, with TOWN TOPICS funds, vocational training assistance for the mother and day care for the children.

Children Aided. Several young children are in the brood under Mrs. M's wing. Not all are hers—she's the kind of warm-hearted woman families turn to when they are in need. She's been on public assistance, but isn't happy about it and has been trying to break that circle.

Through town topics, Family Service found day care for the children, and financed a vocational training program. Mrs. M. is now taking those first steps on the road to self-sufficiency.

A welfare check—lost. Two small children—hungry. The cupboard—bare. It takes three days for a lost welfare check to be replaced, and meanwhile, there was TOWN TOPICS money to provide food.

These are the people who depend on TOWN TOPICS readers, now and in 1977. The appeal is made ONLY in TOWN TOPICS, and only once. There will be no other solicitations of any kind.

Dan Coyle always ended his Christmas Appeal by saying, "Only you will ever know whether you pass it by...."

Checks should be made payable to TOWN TOPICS CHRISTMAS FUND and mailed to Town Topics, Box 664, Princeton, N.J., 08540.

OK TO SEMINARY
For Conversion. At the next meeting of Borough Council on Tuesday, December 14, Council will consider the favorable recommendation from the Borough Zoning Board regarding the 2 Library Place property of Princeton Theological Seminary.

The board approves the Seminary's plan to convert the old house into five apartments. A use variance is needed because the house is in the Borough's R-1 zone where only single-family units are allowed.

The Zoning Board also approved Seminary plans to provide offsite parking which would be covered with gravel, instead of the required blacktop.

A special meeting of the Zoning Board will be held next Monday at 8 in Borough Hall to consider a use variance request for the 195 Nassau Street building. A former telephone answering service office would be converted to retail use, if the request is granted.

Man Dies as Car Rams Pole on Washington Road; PDS Student Is Killed in Accident on Hodge Road

Two young men were killed in separate accidents last week, the Township's fifth traffic fatality this year and the Borough's second.

David R. Mottley, 17, of Trenton, a senior at Princeton Day School and co-captain of the PDS football team, was struck by a car early Sunday morning while he was talking with two friends next to their cars in front of 62 Hodge Road. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Medical Center at 2:15 a.m. from massive internal injuries.

A funeral service for Mr. Mottley was held Tuesday afternoon at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Princeton.

A memorial service was held Sunday at the Princeton Quaker Meeting House for Michael O. Grosz, 20, of 599 Pretty Brook Road, who was killed early Thanksgiving morning when his small station wagon left Washington Road between Faculty Drive and Prospect Avenue, struck a telephone pole and burst into flames. There were no witnesses to the tragedy.

Young Mottley was the son of Mrs. Lorraine Pickett Mottley and Lawrence W. Mottley. He is also survived by a brother, Lawrence P. Mottley, 28, of Washington, D.C.

According to Sgt. Thomas Michaud, who conducted the investigation, Mr. Mottley, Matthew Roberts and 18-year old Amos Harris, had parked their cars, left the motors running and headlights on and were engaged in conversation next to the cars in the roadway in front of the home of Harris's parents, 62 Hodge. The weather was foggy.

Mr. Mottley was struck without warning by the left front fender of a Volkswagen heading toward Elm Drive. The impact hurled him 101 feet, police said. His two companions escaped injury.

As a result of his investigation, which ended Monday afternoon, including statements taken from witnesses, Sgt. Michaud has charged the driver, Carl S. Astbury, 25, Washington Crossing Road, Hopewell Township, with careless driving and death by auto. There were no skid marks, police said.

Mr. Astbury's wife,

AFTERMATH: Car which Michael Grosz of Pretty Brook Road was driving, after it struck telephone pole on Washington Road and caught fire.

Patricia, was a passenger in his car, police said. The impact, damaged the front fender and bumper, shattered the windshield and dented the car's roof.

Sgt. Michaud, Ptl. David Alston and the Princeton First Aid Unit ambulance responded to a call at 1:51 from Amos Harris. The victim was admitted to the Medical Center at 2:05 and pronounced dead ten minutes later.

Car in Flames. The first person to arrive at the Grosz accident (6:02) was Sgt. Michaud of the Borough police, who found the car engulfed in flames. Unable to put out the fire, police called for two fire trucks, which extinguished the blaze.

Police were unable to remove the victim for some time because of the intense heat and flames. A lookup of the license revealed the car was owned by Peter Grosz.

Mr. Grosz told police that his son had taken the car to New York for the day and was returning that evening. The previous day he had returned home for the holiday from Georgetown University School of Foreign Service in Washington, D.C., where he was a member of Chi Psi Fraternity.

Ptl. David Funk, who is heading the Township investigation, has sent x-rays of the victim's body for comparison with medical and dental charts to Frank Tomanio of the State's Medical Examiner's Office in Newark. Township Traffic Safety Officer Sgt. Anthony member, who will be on the citizens committee.

At Friday's meeting, Committee examined about half its capital budget, saving the rest for a future meeting. Members decided to cut back the $300,000 which had been allocated for a three-year development of the north side of Community Park, to $100,000 earmarked for 1982. No specific cut-backs were mentioned.

The controversial Loop Road, now tamed and labeled "parts of Terhune Road to be developed," was placed in the 1981 slot, and marked with double asterisks. Such markings, Committee decided, would be placed on projects to be discussed when the new Master Plan is ready to go. Stuart Road East is another in this category.

This Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Committee will hold a work session on the new land-use ordinance.

Committee also discussed the suggestion of William Whipple, director of the Water Resources Research Institute at Rutgers, that Harry's Brook might be used to study the effects of erosion by an urban stream. A Federal grant of $35,800 would finance the study, which might be co-sponsored by the Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia.

Contributions in Mr. Mottley's memory may be made to the David R. Mottley scholarship fund of Princeton Day School.

COMMITTEE OF 5 NAMED

On Goals for Public Schools. Township residents will have their say on matters as different as school goals and I-95, as a result of Township Committee action Friday.

Five Township residents have been appointed to the citizens committee on school goals. (In the Borough, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that appointments may be ready by Council's December 14 meeting.)

The five, named at committee's special meeting last Friday morning, are Dr. Charles Rosenblum, 1081 Kingston Road; Mrs. Lynne Durkee, 32 Shady Brook Lane; Mrs. Carol Caskey, 6 Bertrand Drive; Mrs. Nancy diMeglio, 22 Terhune Road and Mrs. Kay Mack, 39 Red Hill Road. Mrs. Rosalind Frisch, 145 Ridgeview Circle, is the alternate.

Those who will monitor the state's planning on I-95 will be Baruch Boxer, geographer, of 167 Laurel Circle, who will serve on the technical advisory committee, and Mrs. Josie Hall, The Great Road, Township Committee

RAP SESSIONS HELD

Edith Francis to Charge. "It's just give-and-take--informal, without structure. We talk with each other."

Edith Francis, acting superintendent of schools, will meet with the community at another coffee-and-community hour this Thursday evening. It will be held in the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club on Terhune Road, and it will start at 8 p.m.

Two interpreters will be present, Frank Soda and Serena Teriotti, so that questions can be addressed to Mrs. Francis in Italian, if the questioner prefers.

Mrs. Francis says she's found these community evenings an excellent way to meet people informally without the stiffness of a school board meeting--and with plenty of time to talk. She has held two such meetings this fall, one at Valley Road School and one in the Masonic Lodge on the corner of Maclean and John Street.

The last one held in October, brought out a standing-room-only crowd, and elicited the kinds of questions that can only be asked in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

For example, parents at the Masonic Lodge told Mrs.

New Way to Measure

"Thermometer"

Reading is

Ten Below?"

"That's Celsius, baby--"

How come you

Don't know?"

It was 16 degrees Fahrenheit early Tuesday morning in outlying areas, but the Celsius reading -- toward which international weather records are moving -- was below zero. Either way you read it, it was the coldest day of one of the coldest falls we have ever had.

More of the same, the Man reports, as December moves in. Temperatures will run well below normal through the end of the week, with generally fair weather on hand and the prolonged dry spell that began in late October continuing.

Francis they were concerned about the athletic program in the schools. Why weren't more black students involved, they asked.

One family told Mrs. Francis that when their son, out of school because of a death in the family, had returned to school, he was told he was off the team because he was absent.

Mrs. Francis met with the parents, with high school principal George Petrillo and Norman van Arsdalen of the high school staff, Mr. Petrillo and Mr. van Arsdalen promised an investigation.

"It's the kind of thing that might not come to the attention of the administration," Mrs. Francis observed this week.

People who don't even have children in the schools have attended, Mrs. Francis has found. They want to know about accountability, the meaning of "thorough-and-efficient," goals, the involvement of adults, parents and non-parents alike.

In advance of each meeting, the administrative staff has written to key people--in the black community or the Italian community, asking what particular problems are, and inviting support.

DRUG CHARGES LEVIED

Against Princeton Man. Jerome S. Gildar, 35, 12 Shady Brook Lane, was arrested in his car on Murray Place near Nassau Friday evening by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holiday, who charged him with a series of drug violations.

He has been charged with possession of cocaine, amphetamines, over 25 grams of marijuana, possession with intent to sell and operating a motor vehicle with drugs in it. Gildar was also charged with the sale of narcotics in Princeton on October 25. Total bail was set at $20,000. Gildar was later released in $2,000 cash bail, pending his appearance in Borough court on January 3.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the arrest was the culmination of an eight-week investigation by the two detectives who are members of the department's narcotics squad. He declined to say whether more arrests are planned.

STUDENT IS CHARGED

With Shoplifting. Fred Misiliyan of Pyne Hall, Princeton University, was charged last week with shoplifting a cooked ham ($3.19) and swiss cheese ($1.19) from Davidson's Market on Nassau Street. He was apprehended by the store manager, who turned him over to Detective Ronald Holiday.

George L. Harris, 39, no known address, was sentenced to 60 days in jail, after police had charged him with interfering with and obstructing shoppers in several Princeton stores.

Chief Michael Carnevale commented that he was sentenced with the stipulation that he receive psychiatric care.

FIVE ARE FINED

For Speeding. Five Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough court by Judge Philip Carchman for speeding.

They are Mark A. Hess, 80 Carson Road, $35; Ronald S. Lane, 406 Deer Creek Road, Plainsboro, and Clara Bromberg, 21 Nelson Ridge Road, both $31; Charles D. Birkenhagen, 287 Westcott Blvd., Pennington, $19; and James S. Irish, 117 Terhune Road, $15.

Marjory Fish of the Lawrenceville School and Arthur Brownell, 162 Linden Lane, paid $30 and $25 for careless driving. Failure to give a proper signal cost Adelajda Suckewer, 5U Hibben Apartments, $25, while Armond G. Hill, 132 Snowden Lane, paid $15, late inspection.

CLUB TO HELP SANTA

Answer His Mail. Children in Princeton Junction are encouraged to start writing their letters to Santa Claus and to send them to the Princeton Junction post office.

If a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, Santa will write a Christmas answer. The Princeton Junior Women's Club plans to make sure that Santa receives all his mail and answers those letters sent by December 20.

SCHOOL CHANGES NAME
Appoints Hobler Chairman.
 The Columbus Boychoir School has legally changed its name to The Boychoir School of Princeton, it has been announced by the Board of Trustees. The school, which is celebrating its 40th year, has been located in Princeton since it came from Columbus, Ohio, in 1950.

The Board simultaneously announced that Herbert W. Hobler has been named chairman of the board, Mrs. Sidney Blaxill has been re-elected President, and Hollis Tegarden has joined the school as its executive director to handle administrative and fund raising functions. Donald Hanson continues as Choir Director of the School.

In announcing the name change, the Board noted "In the 26 years the school has been in Princeton, there has been confusion both domestically and abroad by the name Columbus for a school located in Princeton. Further, the Board feels this exceptional boychoir which has performed all over the world, should have stronger reciprocal ties to the reknown community of Princeton."

The Boychoir, which was started in Columbus in 1937 and became a school in 1940 in part to be competitive to the Vienna Boyschoir which could not tour in the United States during the war, presently consists of 28 boys ages 10 to 14 who live at Albermarle, the 52 room, 18 acre estate of the late Gerard B. Lambert. Their unique education includes some 50 to 70 concerts a year throughout the United States and abroad.

To help bring students to Princeton, the Scholarship Committee for AFS is now selling Texas citrus fruit to be delivered in Princeton before Christmas. Twenty pound boxes of red, seedless grapefruit or Texasweet oranges may be ordered from Mrs. Jane Lion at 924-0503, through December 4. The price is $5 per box.

HEADING THE BOYCHOIR SCHOOL: Seated (left to right) are Herbert W. Hobler of Nassau Broadcasting Company who has recently been elected chairman of the board of the school formerly known as The Columbus Boychoir School, and Donald Hanson who continues as director of choir. Hollis Tegarden has been named executive director for administration and fund raising, and Mrs. Sidney Blaxill, a longtime board member, continues as president.

ALARM SOUNDED
 For Smoke Fire. A general alarm was sounded at 9 Saturday night after Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli on foot patrol discovered intense smoke coming from the basement area of Buxton's Luncheonette on Nassau Street. He radioed headquarters for a fire truck.

An investigation revealed that the smoke was caused by an accumulation of smouldering leaves under the sidewalk that had fallen through the grate opening of a small manhole cover over what was once a coal shoot. Police said that a cigarette had apparently dropped through the grate, causing the leaves to ignite.

KINGSTON MAN CHARGED
 With Assault. Gary Stryker, 18, 524 Ridge Road, Kingston, has been charged by Township police with assault and battery and reckless driving, following an incident at 2:15 Sunday morning on the Princeton-Kingston Road. According to police, Stryker stopped his green flatbed truck ahead of James Burans, a Rutgers University student from Chatham. Stryker then got out of his truck.

As Mr. Burans rode past, police said, Stryker punched him on the back. He then re-entered his truck and tried to run the cyclist off the road. Township police served their warrants on Stryker at the Princeton Medical Center, where he had been taken by South Brunswick police. Police here said that Stryker had also been issued a number of charges by South Brunswick police, including assault and battery of a police officer.

ENTRY ATTEMPT FAILS

At Mason Drive Home. An attempted entry in the home of Laurence Stifel, 64 Mason Drive, failed last week.

Mr. Stifel told police that he was sitting in a rear room watching television Thanksgiving night when he heard glass breaking in the front of the house. Investigating, he discovered that his mailbox had been shoved through a storm window and two smaller, inner panes. Sgt. Michael Kopliner investigated.

Car Entered. While Melvin Shulman and his family, 124 Snowden Lane, were playing tennis Thanksgiving Day at Community Park, someone forced the vent window of their parked car.

Taken, police said, was a tennis bag, can of tennis balls and tennis shirt with a combined value of $25. The empty bag was later found beside the Community Park School bubble.

MELEE AT PHS

2 Officers Injured, 5 Charged. Two Borough police officers were injured and five teenagers were charged following a shoving melee Friday evening, November 19, during the second of three Girls Athletic Association sport nights at the school.

Sgt. Thomas Procaccino, who made the charges, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a stretched cornea of the right eye. Ptl. John Reppe was shoved to the ground and kicked in the head. He injured his elbow when it struck the pavement.

Arrested were Anthony Lewis, 18, of Lytle Street, charged with conducting himself in a disorderly manner, and Robert Williams, 18, and Thomas Moore, 18, both of Green Street, both charged with failure to obey a police order to disperse. All three were charged under the Borough's disorderly persons act.

In addition, two 17-year olds have been charged by the juvenile officer with engaging in a disorderly proceeding.

Police were called to the school at 9:04 by school officials who said they had lost control of the situation. Sgt. Procaccino, and Patrolmen Randy Sutton, Victor Fasanella and Reppe responded. They were later joined by Sgt. Michael Kopliner and patrolmen John Hammond and William Potts of the Township.

According to Acting Superintendent Edith Francis, some 30 students and adults were told there was no more room left in the gym and to come back for Saturday's performance. Most left, but three PHS students and three other persons gave Principal George Petrillo, Athletic Director Norman Van Arsdalen and officer Douglas Drummond "a hard time."

Six Windows Smashed. In ten minutes, some 30-35 PHS students, former students and strangers (estimated at 50-60 by police) were in an unruly mood, banging on doors and windows. Six locker room windows were smashed by those trying to get into the girls locker room.

When the police arrived, a number of shoving matches between the officers and members of the crowd developed. Sgt. Procaccino told the crowd three times to leave. Some 20 stayed, Miss Francis estimated. After Sgt. Procaccino said, "Third time-leave or be arrested!" 15 remained behind.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that when Ptl.

Fasanella and Ptl. Reppe tried to break up a fight, the police were attacked from behind by members in the crowd. Several officers, he said, were shoved to the ground. All proceeds are given to charities in this area. For reservations and further information call (201) 536-3402 or 921-9276.

Miss Francis said later that she had been told that some kids were drunk and that three had been drinking in the girls locker room. "The behavior seemed to indicate drunkenness," she said.

Although trouble was expected at the school Monday morning, everything was peaceful, school officials said.

EXHIBITION PLANNED

Of Model Railroad. The Pacific Southern Railway, the largest HO gauge model railroad club in New Jersey, will hold its annual exhibition Saturday and Sunday and again the following weekend, December 11 and 12. The shows are given every hour on the hour, beginning at 9 on Saturdays and 11 on Sundays. The last show begins at 5.

On Saturdays, the 9, 10, 11 and noon shows are each limited to 100 persons and advance reservations are required. The same is true of the 11 a.m. and noon shows on Sundays. No reservations are necessary for the remaining shows; however, tickets may be purchased in advance on the actual day of the show.

The popular circus train will again wind its way over close to 100 scale miles of track and, this year, the Big Top is finally completed. This model, which was built by one of the club members without assistance, represents over 10,000 hours of labor.

Unlimited, free parking is available at the Gamma-Tech building (near Montgomery Shopping Center) at the intersection of Routes 206 and 518. Free shuttle buses will take visitors from the parking lot to the club. Refreshments will be available, and free movies will be shown.

Admission to the reserved shows is $2.50, and $1.50 to the unreserved shows. All proceeds are given to charities in this area. For reservations and further information call (201) 536-3402 or 921-9276.

Police said the front window of a car of a Griggstown resident parked in the east lot at Princeton High School was damaged, resulting in an $86 repair bill.

A large steel cylinder containing liquid nitrogen was tossed through the windshield of a Township resident's car while it was parked in the lot at Corwin Hall off William Street. It was discovered at 1:53 Saturday morning.

The car of a student at Princeton University was damaged when vandals cracked the windshield, broke the antenna and dented the right front door. It had been parked at Quadrangle Club, 33 Prospect.

In the Township, William Kiefer, 1005 The Great Road, reported that the door to his tool shed had been shattered and the items inside strewn about. Police said it is unknown if anything was taken.

WINDOW KNOCKED OUT

By Angry Neighbor. Lester E. Bethea, 20, 40 Leigh Avenue, was arrested last week after Ptl. Renn Kaminski and Ptl. David Crowmell observed him, while on patrol, knock out a front window of the Princeton Market, 44 Leigh.

Bethea, who explained that he had had an argument with his parents, was taken to nearby Princeton Medical Center for treatment of cuts to his right hand which he used to punch out the window. He was later released in his own recognizance.

CHAPIN EXPANDS Into Adjoining Property.
With the acquisition of the James Stanley property at 4373 Province Line Road,
Chapin School is expanding its physical plant. This week students, faculty and staff were involved in the move into the seven-room house on two acres of land adjacent to the school's present site on Princeton Pike.

Following the signing of final papers in September, the next two months were devoted to renovating the house and improving the land. With the completion of indoor painting, a macadam walkway joining the two buildings, a fire escape, and brush-clearing, moving day became a reality as truck loads of items from the business office, admissions office, and science labs for the middle and lower schools were moved to their new quarters.

Also housed in the new building will be the special reading classes and the parents association meeting room and general all-purpose activity area.

MORE PRIZES LISTED
For Watersheds Auction
Sunday. In addition to the more than 100 prizes already announced for the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association auction on Sunday, other offerings and opportunities will be put up for bids. You can still win that plane ride over the watershed areas or a two-week vacation in a house to yourself on Martha's Vineyard or a winetasting planned around a theme of your own choice.

The auction will take place in the main dining room of the

Craig Pharas help the school move the contents of two offices into newly-renovated quarters in a house next door which the school purchased earlier this fall.

Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton from 5 to 8. The setting will be a Crepes and Cider Party at which crepes will be prepared to your order by super-chefs Marvin Reed, Jack McNeill and Bob Levine.
Admission will be $7.50 per person.

The 400-acre tract maintained by the association is the center for educational programs on land use and water quality. The technical library in the headquarters building is open to the public.
As innumerable children and adults have found out over the past 28 years, this is a place for discovering and rediscovering our relationship to nature.

In view of that background, most of the prizes at the auction will have an environmental connection, such as the trip to the bird sanctuary at Brigantine or even the five-inch Cybis porcelain
owl. Others have to do with personal environment, like an hour's consultation with the Plant Lady in your own home or a needlepoint chair cover with a wildlife motif to be done in colors of your selection.

Less environmental but highlights of the affair are a silver coffee service and an Oneida Flatware service for eight. In addition to wines and dinner and foods already announced, you can bid for fish platter luncheons or, with holiday festivities on the horizon, Christmas pudding for eight with brandied hard sauce.

HOST FAMILIES SOUGHT
For AFS Exchange
Students. The American Field Service International Scholarship program is offering families of Princeton area high school students the opportunity to become host parents to a foreign student for the next school year. And students from over 60 countries have the chance to be one of those coming to Princeton under this remarkable program.

The teenage young man or woman who comes to Princeton will have been chosen because the selection committees here and abroad saw in him qualities of adaptability, open-mindedness and eagerness to learn which will make his experience a rewarding one both for himself and for those with whom he comes in contact. He will participate in the life of this community, not as a visitor or a guest, but as a member of a family. And he will teach about his own land and his own people.

Costs are primarily paid by the AFS International and Chapter committees. The host family budgets for the student's food and lodging, family trips and modest birthday, holiday and farewell presents in accordance with its own way of living.

If you have a student at Princeton Day School,
Princeton High School or Stuart Country Day school, you can be "home" to a young person next year. For more information, contact Mrs.
Lucius Wilmerding (PDS),

the Windsors, Inc., will host its second tennis party and full buffet Saturday night,
December 4, at the Princeton
Indoor Tennis Center,
Washington Road, Princeton Junction.

Tennis tickets at $12.50 per player are limited in number, but tickets to the buffet only at $5 per person are plentiful. A bountiful buffet is planned, and there will be free soft drinks and beer as well.

All proceeds will go to support APAW's shelter where cats and dogs are never destroyed but are given love and care until good homes can be found. To reserve tickets call 448-7162 after 5, or 443-6360.

OPENING SUNDAY

For Doll Exhibit. The public is invited to the opening and reception of an exhibit of "Unusual Dolls" Sunday from
2-5 at High Button Shoe
Antiques, 2 Bank Place,

OVER THE ROCKS AND INTO THE TREES: Not to grandfather's house, but to the contemporary home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Large on the Christmas in Princeton tour of houses Tuesday, December 7, to benefit the Association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. (Barbara Russo photo)

SIX HOUSES FEATURED On Tour for NJNPI. Christmas in Princeton, a tour of houses decorated for Christmas and a selection of Christmas shops, will be held on Tuesday, December 7. from 10 until 4. This is an annual event sponsored by the Association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. Six homes have been selected for the tour by co-chairman Mrs. Henry W. Jeffers III and Mrs. Norman F.S. Russell. They include the colonial country home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Merritt which features an Audubon papered dining room overlooking a terrace and greenhouse; the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Budd, in which a cheerful atmosphere has been created by the decorator-owner's use of fabrics and colors; and the dramatic contemporary house built by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Large, which uses large windows and high ceilings to highlight its natural setting in the woods.

Other houses on the tour are The Barracks, the first property of the Stockton family and now owned by the Lewis B. Cuylers, a practical but gracious early American dwelling enhanced by an annual Christmas "haunting;" Morven, the residence of Gov. and Mrs. Brendan T. Byrne, one of the state's loveliest historic buildings; and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hopper III, an old house with a striking new addition.

The Christmas shops and the tour headquarters will be at the Hun School on Edgerstone Road. Tickets at $7.50 each may be ordered from Mrs. Robert Gorman, 1097 Stuart Road, or purchased at the Hun School or any of the six houses. The homes will feature bicentennial collections this year.

STATE FREEZES SEWER Downstream Approval Delayed. It was supposed to be routine, a rubber-stamp approval. The Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority submitted on November 1 its application for design and construction money to complete downstream sewer sections designed to serve West Windsor, South Brunswick and the two Princetons. The state promised to act in two weeks -- certifying the request to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

But the certification has been caught in a state freeze. With funds beginning to run out, the state has frozen all certification until January 1, to work out priorities. It may be mid-January before the Authority gets the required approval.

Apparently, according to Robert Harvey, the Authority's executive director, the freeze applies only where money is concerned. It probably won't affect state action on the Authority's desire to implement the single-plant Plan A, because this involves only planning.

At last Tuesday's meeting, the Authority passed another resolution asking the state to make a decision soon on Plan A.

The state's freeze means delay completing interceptors for West Windsor and South Brunswick and relief for Princeton's trunk system. This puts off full use of the new sewer plant now being built on River Road.

The plant is due to be finished in November, 1977 — ahead of schedule and ahead of the time when South Brunswick and West Windsor can tie in. This means Princeton will have to bear the whole cost of the plant, at least until May, 1978 and possibly longer.

Under service agreements among Authority communities, municipalities must start paying on a minimum-flow basis as soon as the plant has been completed and accepted. However, the brunt of the costs will fall on Princeton: $34,230 a month for the Borough and $37,940 a month for the Township.

FOUR TIRES STOLEN
From New Car. Four tires, wheels and wheel covers with a value of $652.20 were stolen last week from a 1977 car parked on the rear edge of the new car lot at Nini Chrysler-Plymouth, 809 State Road. Police said the thief damaged the car's rear fender skirts in removing the tires.

When Jeanette E. Nelson of Hibben Apartments tried to start her car Monday morning, the motor refused to turn over. Later that day when she lifted the hood to investigate, she discovered that someone had removed the bolts from the car's $30 starter motor and made off with it.

There were more citizen band radio thefts. John F. Harper, 1002 The Great Road, reported the loss of his CB unit valued at $250 from his car while it was parked Friday in the lot of the Houghton Building, 228 Alexander Street. Police said that a coat hanger or similar instrument had been used to pull up the door lock.

A CB valued at $100 was ripped from the dashboard, causing considerable damage to the parked car of Jackson Sloan of Berwyn, Pa. The victim told police that he had parked his car Thanksgiving day at the Community Park lot while playing tennis. It was unlocked.

Borough police listed the theft of a $150 CB last week from the car of a West Windsor resident. It was parked in the Palmer Square lot adjacent to the Princeton Playhouse, between 8:40 a.m. and 5 p.m. A window on the passenger side was broken to enter, police said.

Ptl. John Holcombe investigated the theft of a $45 battery from a student's car parked in a lot at Westminster Choir College.

$750 In Tools Stolen. A canvass shoulder bag containing $750 in engineering tools was stolen from a room in the Engineering Quadrangle on Olden Street. Police identified the victim as an engineering student at the University.

A sheepskin coat valued at $359 was removed last week from a coat rack in Green Hall on the university campus. The victim, a Lawrenceville woman, had visited the Hall between 1 and 4 p.m., police said.

A $125 suede coat containing a $10 pair of gloves and $10 pen was stolen last week from a first-floor coat room at the Cottage Club, 51 Prospect Avenue. The victim was a University undergraduate.

A teacher's purse left on a bench in the first floor foyer at Miss Mason's School, 53 Bayard Lane, yielded $109. The thief entered the school between 7:30 and 9:35 p.m., police said, through a ground floor window.

A wallet left in an office in the Merwick Nursing Center off Bayard Lane was taken between 6:20 and 7:10 Monday evening and later found in the Merwick library minus the $46 and three credit cards it contained. Police said that the victim had placed the wallet on a chair in the office where she was working.

A Vermont resident, who parked her car at the Marquand Park lot Sunday but failed to lock it, paid the price when she left her pocketbook in view. The pocketbook was valued at $20 and the wallet inside at $15. Police said it contained no cash but the victim lost her credit cards and check book.

McCarter Office Looted. Between 1 Sunday afternoon and Monday morning, a thief entered the unlocked theater office at McCarter Theater and took a calculator, tape player, portable typewriter and electric clock. No value on the missing items was received by the police.

A gold 10-speed bicycle was stolen Monday evening from an unlocked garage on Spruce Street. Valued at $125, police said that the bike bore Borough stamp number 181.

WANT TO RAISE FUNDS?
Sell Battlefield Coffee. Nothing tastes better to somebody who's watching a winter battle than a cup of good, steaming coffee. Your organization might as well earn some money by setting up a booth Monday, January 3, at Princeton Battlefield and selling coffee and doughnuts to whoever passes by.

Local merchants say they aren't interested, so it's an open field for any group. You'd be staffing the booth from about 9 a.m., and the Bicentennial Committee would like to know ahead of time what your plans are. You are asked to call Janet Butcher, 799-3610 in the evenings to make arrangements.

HOLIDAY PARTY SET
By YWCA. Holiday carols, the scent of evergreens, and a spirit of sharing will fill the air Sunday from 2 to 4:30, when the YWCA holds an old-fashioned "Hanging of the Greens" at the YM-YWCA building on Paul Robeson Place. The event is open to the public at no charge.

The fireplace will be crackling as guests enjoy punch and cookies prepared and served by YWCA volunteers. Everyone who attends will be invited to decorate the YM-YWCA with boughs of greenery and to help make hand-crafted ornaments for the four big trees in the building.

Carolyn Moseley, who teaches guitar at the YWCA and is a popular entertainer in the Princeton community, will stroll among the guests singing and playing her guitar. Both the YWCA Recorder Consort Quartet and the West Windsor Madrigal

If the Children on Your List Are Silent (!), These Gift Ideas May Help Your Shopping

SANTA AT THE LOFT GALLERY: This Saturday, December 4, is Santa Day at the Loft Gallery. Aided by his elves who will distribute candy-filled boots, Santa Claus will be available to chat with the children by a cheery fire and decorated tree from 10 until 5. The room here is spacious and thus it is an unusually relaxing environment for the children to speak with Santa, unrestricted by long lines just as Sara Edenbaum is here.

IT'S NEW To Us

Thanksgiving has come and gone, and if you are a traditionist who refuses to begin Christmas shopping until after this holiday has been properly celebrated, now is the time to begin.

While everyone always seems to have at least one fussy mother-in-law or cantankerous uncle on the list, we'd like to ignore them for the moment and begin instead with a pleasanter area - the children's gifts.

If any one store can be considered a headquarters for games, it has to be Toy Carousel at the Princeton Shopping Center. Owner Ron Tyler is constantly on the lookout for new ones, and this year he has a group from Britain that he says are "terrific."

Elxton X is based on the British electoral system. Six parties compete on a board representing a map of England, and, of course, the object is to win the election. Then Hare & Tortoise is a racing game where you must buy each space, while Worldbeater deals with a trip from Fort Dunlop, England, to New York and back again. They cost $10.95 to $12.95, and none of the three can be won by luck.

Last year Toy Carousel introduced Princeton to Mastermind, and Mr. Tyler thinks Shoulder to Shoulder will be its successor. This is a tactical game for two or three players who must close their ranks, $6.95. You'll also find military games here based on battles from the War of Roses to the 1997 Invasion of America, and they are extremely accurate.

While these are all pretty much for adults, there are some for the younger set, too - our favorite being Mostly Ghostly, a lotto-type game in which you build a skeleton, one that even glows in the dark, $3.95.

Action games are always popular and this year's pick is Epoch's Champion Baseball Game that tests the batter with seven different pitches - all without the aid of batteries, $12.95. We also liked the Derby Horse Race, because it's surprisingly difficult for the same entry to win twice, two sizes, $8.95 or $24.95.

Marionettes are another major Christmas gift we found here, and they are marvelous. A beginner can start with Iz or Oz, two simple-to-manipulate ostriches, $4.50. Then as his talents and imagination develop, he can move on to the t-bar puppets that include skeletons, Pinocchio and Gepetto, Red Riding Hood and the Wolf, a snake charmer, a handsome dragon, or a mouse to name but a few, $7.50 to $23.95.

Subway Puzzles. Puzzles are here, too, and the big news is the return of the subway ones from major cities around the world. We also liked the Beatrix Potter puzzle showing Peter Rabbit in a cold frame and for the smaller children a box of Mickey Mouse cubes that can be turned to form six different puzzles, $4.95 to $5.95.

The ultimate toy, however, whether you are 9 or 90, is the radio-controlled sports cars we found at Nassau Hobby and Crafts, 142 Nassau Street. They are electrically powered and include antique and modern models, $24.95 to $90. The most elaborate is "George," an electric van that will go forward, backward, turn, stop, or increase its speed simply on your voice command.

Walkie Talkies, including the Space 1999 communicator for space adventures, are an excellent choice for boys who enjoy imaginative games, from $14.

When it comes to crafts, Caran D'Ache, a Swiss company, is unbeatable. We particularly like the Modella clay because it comes in bright colors that remain soft indefinitely, $6.98 to $8.49 for gift sets, or 49 cents for a small package of any color.

Baby's First Christmas

A baby's first Christmas produces a joy all its own and is an event to be celebrated, possibly with a special gift.

If you are a grandparent, you might wish to contribute something that will someday be a family heirloom. Nassau Interior's 18th century mahogany highchair is just such an item. Beautifully made with a Queen Anne frame and a Chippendale splat, it even has a brass plate you can have engraved, $349.95.

A Cabin Creek quilt will also be passed on to many babies and become more treasured as time goes by. There are the traditional Dutch boy or girl and nine-patch patterns, as well as one with animals or an apple tree, $25 to $60.

Then at The Clothesline, there are hand-knit sweaters and hats in a diamond-stitch design and some crocheted blankets with a scalloped edge. $17.95 to $20.

Nassau Hobby also has another clay, Pendo, that does air dry and thus this is your choice for jewelry making or miniatures, $2.79 and it too is available in colors.

Up the street at 102 Nassau, Zinder's is a child's wonderland with toys for all ages. For mothers, dolls are irresistible, particularly the beautifully made Madame Alexander collection which begins with a chubby baby doll dressed in pink gingham and knitted white booties, $26.95.

There are also Victorian ladies, Raggedy Anns and Andys, The Bionic Woman whose ears "ping" when her head moves, and Barbie as a ballerina or in Malibu, from $4.99.

From Ernie and Bert Land, Sesame Street commands top billing from the pre-schoolers, and the toy manufacturers are well aware of this. At Zinder's, our choices were a cardboard Sesame Street house that the kids can play in and a Street

Spirograph that makes it easy to draw fascinating pictures, and Playskool's new Richard Scarry's Puzzletown series that includes Farmer Alfalfa's Farm, $2.99 to $12.44.

Bikes are generally one of a child's favorite possessions, and a new one would be sure to be received with large eyes on Christmas morning. Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon Street, currently has about 600 new bikes in stock, and we doubt there is a style missing.

These include a beginner bike with training wheels, one with a convertible bar so it can be used by boys or girls, three-speed, five-speed, and 10-speed racing models. There is also a special folding bike by Raleigh, an exercycle by Columbia, and even a unicycle for the very talented. Prices start at about $60.

However, if someone on your list has outgrown a bike or simply has too many miles to cover each day, you should look at the mopeds. These motorized bikes by Motobecane get fantastic mileage, are easy to park and are probably the most inexpensive form of transportation around. We think they'd be perfect for a college student or young working person, $399 to $469.

Of course, many people already have bikes, but then Tiger Auto has lots of accessories for them. We liked Fair game which is played by matching colors in order to be the first one home to 123 Sesame Street with a cookie.

This same age group should also like the Creative Playthings Put-Together Tool Box made of natural and painted hardwoods that can be disassembled and rebuilt over and over again.

For rainy days, there is nothing like a book, especially "Charlie Brown's Super Book of Things To Do and Collect," which has ideas for crafts such as puppets, mobiles, maps and fingerpainting, as well as riddles throughout, $3.95.

We also loved Michael Firth's "My Amazing Book of Autographs Collected by Me Myself," which asks the child to find the autographs of specific people such as friends at the beach, left-handed people, artists, a bird watcher and many more, $2.95 and it should be worth many hours of fun.

Woolworth's, 116 Nassau Street, is often the best spot to find television-advertised toys, frequently at excellent prices. For instance, the Fisher-Price Hospital with its ambulance, elevator and x-ray machine is specially priced at $11.27.

We also saw Barbie and Ken's Puff 'n Play inflatable furniture, the Six-Million Dollar Man game, Kenner's the Cannondale seatpack with its own reflector, $9.99; the speedometers that fit any size wheel, $8.99; Citadel's ultra high-security lock that is backed by a guarantee up to $150, $26.99; and a complete bike tool kit in its own zippered case, $11.99.

Other items you'll find here include skateboards, fishing equipment, sleeping bags, and the Adirondack wooden toboggans. These start in price at $12.99 for a two-person one and go up to $39.99 for a six-person model.

Some stores, regardless of their stock, always find space for children's things, and Stone's Linen Shop, 20 Nassau Street is one. There are Sesame Street vinyl placemats with Big Bird, the Muppets gang or Bert and Ernie, $1.75 each; Ronald McDonald sheets and pillowcases, $9.50 and $4; and a super selection of bubble bath.

For Dirty Kids. The bubble bath which is made especially for dirty kids by Village, comes in individual packets or gift sets. The sets feature finger paints in three colors with a yellow palette or a chemistry set with a bubble bath base, colors and a mixing bottle, $5 and $5.95 respectively. (These can also be found at The Hope Chest and Expressions.)

"Space - it's the same old thing. Where will I put it?" said Polly Lyons last week at Polly's Fine Candles on Palmer Square as she began to display all the new

The Miniature World

Doll houses and the miniature world have grown tremendously in popularity over the past few years. As a result, prices have escalated, and so now many items including houses themselves are available in excellent kits.

Nassau Hobby and Crafts has a Williamsburg Colonial that includes clapboard siding, a full attic, stairway, dormers, double wall construction and a split cedar roof—all for $72 if you do it yourself.

Then to furnish the house there are kits for whole rooms or individual miniature pieces. However, if you prefer the furniture already done, we also saw old-fashioned bathtubs, brass beds, rocking chairs and even modern lights that actually work, $1.98 to $11.98.

Over at Toy Carousel there are wooden stoves and sinks, a high chair with a tray that opens, a dining table with an extension leaf and a white polar bear rug, 89 cents to $9.95.

However, when it comes to the finer points of decorating, do look at the needlepointed rugs and embroidered fabrics at Clayton's Yarn Shop, $7 to $10 and most kits contain several pieces for a specific room.

Christmas goodies. For the tree there are bright foil-covered chocolate (some are cream filled) pine cones, mushrooms, bells, groups of packages, from 15 cents, and candy canes in all sizes from two for a nickel.

When it comes time to set the Christmas dinner table, you might wish to add small milk chocolate trees, hollow santas, decorated packages of mints, or candy-filled Santa mugs at each place, 35 cents to $1.50.

Then when it's time for dessert, serve a Blum's fruit cake, $4.95 for a pound box; Continentals chocolate covered petits fours, $4.75; a creamy mousse in fluted chocolate shells, $2.50 for six; or cream for the coffee in mini milk chocolate cups, $2.75.

Food is a major part of all Christmas traditions, and Polly's has all the favorite candies. There are boxes of ribbon candy, cut-rock Christmas candy with pretty designs that go all the way through, bags of old-fashioned hard candies, Christmas mint starlights, and crystal cream mint wreaths, snowmen or leaves in green, white or red, $2 to $4 a pound.

Candy also makes a handsome gift and our choices here were a large milk chocolate Princeton "P" in a lovely silver package, Perugina's cherry chocolates, or the rich Mozart Kugeln which Polly says is "in-describably good," $3 and up.

Children's Clothing. Clothing is another Christmas thought and up the Square at The Clothesline we found some warm thoughts for the smallest children in the family. There are flannel nighties - white ones printed with Holly Hobbie or the alphabet and a pink and white gingham one trimmed with cotton lace, $6.95 to $10.75.

These are long, but now that thermostats are kept lower, even a long nightie often needs a robe to keep the wearer warm. Here we chose a red and white check flannel one with a mandarin collar, tie for the waist and buttons decorated with addition problems, $20.

However, to keep the smallest member of all warm, you had best think about a blanket, such as the hand-woven ones from Churchill Weavers in Berea, Kentucky. These come in pastel colors, woven in a plain, diamond or block pattern, and each is finished with a tiny fringe around the edges, $8.95 and $9.95.

Not particularly warm, but cute and extremely practical, is an Austrian bib apron we saw here too. It comes in a green, red and white small flowered print which makes it a great cover-up for Christmas dinner, but it is also nice any time of year for finger-painting or crafts, $6.75.

We found more robes and gowns, matching ones in fact, at Allen's Children's Center, 134 Nassau Street. Prettiest of all is a pale yellow one with an old fashioned print of clocks, lamps and flowers. It has a ruffle-edged bib front and can be teamed with a gown, or pajamas if your size 4 to 14 girl prefers, $9 to $15.

Another matching set combines a patchwork sleeping bag with a gown, pajama or even a long ruffled skirt, $9 to $25, and the sleeping bag unzips to double as a comforter.

Danskin is a long-time big seller here at Allen's and each year this company becomes more fashionable, without depleting the quality of these tough clothes. New this year is a scoop-necked flare-leg navy or red jumpsuit with a white wide zipper and topstitching, sizes 4 to 6x, $14.75. Then for the bigger 7 to 14 girls, Danskin has another jumpsuit with short sleeves and an elastic waistband in navy, camel or sea green, also with white topstitching, $23.50.

For Christmas dinner at Grandmother's or a special party, we recommend Polly Flinders long blue dress with a smocked bodice, ribbon tie and ruffled hem. It's sure to make a picture book child out of any little girl, size 4-6x, $20.

The bigger girls, however, would undoubtedly prefer a

Stocking Stuffers

When Santa gets ready to fill the stockings, here are some small thoughts that might help him--and they are all priced under $2.

For the Snoopy fan, Expressions has a Peanuts gang yo-yo, a Flying Ace glider, a pencil sharpener and a Woodstock whistle.

Then at Toy Carousel, also at the Shopping Center, there are some excellent coloring books of Alice in Wonderland, The Middle Ages or Stained Glass Windows. We also liked the Fat Cat's Craft and Coloring book which contains instructions on how to make masked marvels.

Uptown, Zinder's has a whole display of little toys which includes Sesame Street finger puppets, a Chinese jump rope and unusually tiny mice dressed in costumes.

From Tiger Auto, the bikers should like yellow reflector leg bands, while at the Loft Gallery the choice includes colorful wooden German spinning tops, bean bags and small plush animals such as a pink pig.

We also feel all stockings should include something for the sweet tooth, and at Polly's Fine Candies there are some charming German milk chocolate bars imprinted with pictures of Snow White, Hansel and Gretel or Red Riding Hood. The traditional marzipan good luck pig is here too, as is a small box of marzipan fruits.

sophisticated knit sweater and pants set by Little World. It comes in green, with red piping and stripes on the sweater, and there is a coordinated red blouse to wear underneath, $40 for sizes 7 to 14, and it is also available in blue and mauve.

For boys this year the choices are traditional -- tartan plaid cotton flannel shirts, crewneck sweaters and wide-wale corduroy slacks. The latter are especially nice for the holidays as they come in fashion colors, such as Kelly green, light blue, white or red, $15 to $19 for sizes 8 to a 36 waist.

Sweaters. Among the sweaters, our favorites were a fisherman's knit turtleneck and a cable crewneck by Izod in grey, beige or heather pink, approximately $12 and $14. Also, don't forget the girls like these too, even though they're in the boys' department.

To keep that youngster warm there are jogging suits (starting at size 4) for serious exercise and the fabulous Mighty Mac jackets for everything else. If you don't already know these, just ask Allen's to describe the many features and you will quickly be convinced of their value, approximately $65 for sizes 8 to 20 and there are several styles.

Popular down jackets by Pacific Trail in bright orange or navy are here too ($40 to $55,) as is a lovely fleece wrapped bathrobe in navy or red that is sized for toddlers through boys 14, $12 and $16.

Bellows, 210 Nassau Street, also has boys' clothing, and our choice here for Christmas dinner was a Dress Gordon pair of slacks with a matching vest, $14 to $15.50 for each piece in sizes 4 to 14. Add a navy blazer and it would be hard to look any snappier.

Then for the bigger boys we liked the imported Scottish shetland sweaters which come in lovely colors such as burgundy, green, grey, yellow, heather blue, bright red and even pink, $22 for sizes 34 to 42.

Sister dresses have a refreshing old-fashioned look to them, and yet Bellows have some that are far from old-fashioned. For instance, there is a green or dark navy velvet one-piece dress with the look of a jumper that comes in sizes from toddler 2 to girls 12, $29 to $39.

We also liked Florence Eiseman's navy suspender skirt with a red edging, $11 to $14 in sizes toddler to girls 12 too. Add a white turtleneck, and the outfit is complete.

The bigger girls can also consider a more sophisticated look such as the off-white corduroy jumpsuit by Ruth of Carolina. It has a drawstring waist, an applied red poppy and quilted red cotton collar and cuffs, $31, sizes 7 to 14.

Most sophisticated of all, however, is Anne Klein's quilted taffeta plaid skirt which has combined lavender, red, black and green, and then teamed it with a long-sleeved lavender silk pongee blouse or one of her red signature t-shirts, $19 to $30.

The gift suggestions here are always varied and lots of fun. For the lucky child going South this winter, we liked a pink wrapped skirt with a haughty cat print. There are also slacks and t-shirts to go with both, $8 to $18.50.

Other thoughts are an off-white fuzzy pile vest, a sleeping bag printed with Joan Walsh Anglund's dear little dolls and sweet sayings, a Paddington Bear backpack and a turtleneck with a child's name printed down one of the sleeves, $7 to about $26.

The teens love Landau's Too, 126 Nassau Street, because they can find clothes that fit them and yet are anything but babyish. Particularly sought after are the Stry cotton turtlenecks which come in at least 14 colors, the Lacoste long-sleeved rugby shirts and the new comfortable velour ones in solid or rugby stripes, $8 to $18.

It's New to Us

Number one on most teenage Christmas lists, however, is a sweater. The choice is incredibly wide, but our selections were a multi-colored fashionable cowl-necked sweater, $14; a junior sized Fair Isle in any of several yummy colors, $25; a Deans cabled crewneck, $19; and a white Christmas sweater in a wrap style by Garland with red edging and red, blue and green stitching across the bodice, $26.

A close second behind sweaters is a request for nightclothes which range from Lanz granny gowns in small Austrian prints of hearts and flowers to an Izod rugby nightshirt in navy with green, red or yellow, $17 and $18. We also liked the Lollipop feet pajamas which will fit anyone to a tee as they are made of a stretch terry in solid colors or white with red or blue stripes, $12.

Teenagers and young adults are very shoe conscious these days and we can't think of a better gift than a pair of Bass waterproof boots from Hult's, 140 Nassau Street. They are the kind you see in the L.L. Bean catalog with leather uppers, and they come in three heights from just at the ankle to almost mid-calf, $26.95 to $33.95.

However, if waterproofing is not a requirement, you should also look at the handsome leather high boots by Dexter. They all have low heels and one even has cowboy stitching, $59.

Then regardless of the age or sex, when you think about cold winter nights, think about the Sioux Moc slippers. These come in hand-stitched moccasin styles or low suede boots lined with lambswool, $13 to $19.

Hult's also has an excellent selection of socks, particularly the knee-high ones which come in cables, scarf-type stripes and some marvelous knobby tweeds, $1.75 to $3.

Give Your Christmas Tree

After Christmas last year, 40 nicely balled-and-burlapped Christmas trees, still with a bit of tinsel on the chin, were donated to the Princeton schools for erosion-control planting at Johnson Park School.

All 40 are alive, green and flourishing, and William Karch would like to have some more. Mr. Karch directs facilities for the schools, and thought up the idea last year.

His crew will pick up your tree after Christmas whenever you say. It would be helpful to him if you could let him know ahead of time that you plan to donate a tree, and you can call him at 924-7306.

Your gift is tax-deductible, by the way.

Decorations. Each week we come across some new and different Christmas decorations that we feel are perfect candidates to be added to a cherished collection. This week we found them at Princeton Gift Shop on Palmer Square, and most outstanding was a natural wood star with multi points and curls that will proudly sit on top of your tree, $8.

We also liked the glass reindeer, bright red wooden rocking horse, tiny colorful wooden angels and box of 12 small old-fashioned ornaments, $1 to $4.

Naturally, there are gifts here too, many of which reflect an animal theme. These include small bronzes from the Heredities Co. of England such as a textured mother penguin shielding her children; a fiberglass thermos with a goldfinch feeding in some purple thistle; and a wood-trimmed hot-tray with a design of Canada Geese, $17.50 to $60.

We also felt that the Kashmir papier mache boxes with their perfectly detailed and matched designs were exquisite, $6 to $20.

Then, if you have a plate collector on your list, the 1976 Royal Copenhagen one is here featuring the Viback Mill built in 1756, $27.50. And, for a few final thoughts, we liked the Senior Magnalight which greatly enlarges and illuminates anything, $7.50, as well as denim suede wallet and checkfold set, $8.50 to $13.50.

More Christmas thoughts are at the Loft Gallery, 306 Alexander Street, where we found some mobile Christmas cards. They are only $1.25 each, and when assembled are an enchanting full-color mobile of a Christmas theme, such as Santa in a plane.

Also $1.25, is a folder with a Danish silk screened picture on burlap on the front. The three kings is particularly handsome, and while these can be used for cards, they are lovely enough to eventually be framed.

And, speaking of framing, the Loft Gallery has introduced a large selection of stock-sized frames. However, these are unlike the run-of-the-mill stock frames, because they are made from custom moldings. There are a variety of wood-toned ones as well as many in bright colors or gold and silver.

The prices start at about $4, and there is a large group under $10. They are perfect gifts for do-it-yourselfers, and just right for children's art work or needlepoint pictures, particularly as some of the frames are square.

The gallery itself provided us with several gift suggestions such as the Batik pillows which have added interest in that certain sections have been outline quilted. Also, the colors are lovely - green, melon, tan and brown, and yellow or pink, $12 each.

Other thoughts include

Penny Hoagland's hanging planter with a design of fins across the bottom of the off-white porcelain pottery, $18; Polly French's whimsical animal prints, from $8; and an elaborate leaded glass box made from beach glass, $45.

Also, while you're there do take time to visit the exhibit of Sam Norkin's theatrical caricatures. He is the N.Y. Daily News' drama critic and well known for his drawings, any one of which would be a marvelous and most unusual gift, $175 to $325.

If your tastes or those of your relatives lean towards the contemporary, Viking Furniture at 259 Nassau Street has a small but carefully chosen group of Christmas suggestions. The choice ranges from lightweight silver plastic mobiles of biplanes, sharks, birds or boats to a multi-toned tan dyed American lamb fur throw large enough for a queen-sized bed, $8 to $289.

One of our favorite suggestions was a white vinyl Dansk light kit. There are several models, all of which contain many angled pieces of the white vinyl, and the kit includes everything but the light bulb, from $23.95.

We also liked the colorful round tall wastebaskets, the fun gumball machines that will dispense gum, candies or nuts for only a penny, and the interesting metal wall sculptures from Artisan House - our favorite being an old Chinese junk worked in brass with red trim, $10 to approximately $100.

Then for the more traditional at heart, there is Nassau Interiors at 162 Nassau Street. Here you can choose one of several small mahogany pieces that you can probably even gift wrap. There is a tin-lined plant stand, a double-sectioned magazine stand, an inlaid drop-leaf Pembroke table, and several sizes of curio tables for displaying shells, miniatures, porcelains or whatever, $99 to $199.

Lamps are a mainstay here, and most are reduced at least 10 percent. We particularly liked a pewter candlestick design that is available with a square or round base, $89, and a glass one filled with small colorful shells, $85.

A particularly good gift item is the old stand-by bridge lamp which comes in solid brass with a laquer finish that can be polished or antiqued. It costs $55 and there are two models - the standing one or swing-arm. To go with this, Nassau Interiors also has a walnut frame card table with a black or white vinyl top and there are four companion chairs, $43 and $33 respectively.

It is probably too late to special order any furniture for Christmas, but there are many reduced floor samples that can be delivered in plenty of time. This includes upholstered pieces such as a lovely pale blue velvet wing chair or an off-white fine-ribbed corduroy club chair, $455 and $312 respectively.

Finally, if your list includes a new young couple in a first apartment, you should be enchanted with a cherry dining table we found here. It is oval with drop leaves so that it requires a minimum of space when it is not in use. However when the occasion warrants, four leaves can be added and the table then can easily seat eight people, $249.

Again, thinking of the new apartment dweller, why not look at some of the exciting sheet designs we saw back at Stone's Linen Shop. There are Dress Stewart and Gordon plaids, Bakuba animals in tones of brown, and The Dakota Forest in earth colors, $3.25 to $7.50 for pillowcases and twin-sized sheets.

Other gift thoughts from here were a pillow decorated with hand-painted flowers, a stadium blanket in its own vinyl case that can double as a cushion, and monogrammed finger-tip towels with a single contemporary initial on a blue, green, pink, black, beige or brown terrycloth.

Don't forget that all packages should be mailed by the end of this week, and your cards by the end of next. So don't delay, and you'll end up with lots of time for the cookie making and decorating that is generally the most fun.

MAILBOX

Let's Back the Good Guys. To the Editor of Town Topics: Belated congratulations to the local anti-Eric movie protestors for switching from negative to affirmative action! I have just encountered a copy of a newsletter issued earlier this Fall to members of this militant group (which strenuously objects to the money-making movie selection policies of the Sameric chain management of both the Garden and Playhouse Theatres). While promising further action against Sameric, this letter very sensibly urges members patronize the Movies-at-McCarter Film Series, the Children and Family Movie Series at Princeton Public Library and the Montgomery Center Theatre (which is reported to have cut admission prices and to be offering a new picture show every week).

The newsletter might have added that a short atroll through the University campus any time at all will in addition put movie buffs in touch with posters proclaiming a seemingly endless selection of contemporary films and revivals, foreign and domestic, comedies, tragedies, documentaries, avant garde social statements and divers other offerings from Disney to Warhol, rated G through X—all at very modest admission prices and sometimes even free of charge.

Meanwhile, Sameric's offerings, however unappealing they may be to some segments of the Princeton audience, do seem to attract visitors from a wide area around Princeton, thereby strengthening our local business community.

But a direct cultural benefit of Sameric's mass appeal movie policy is after all to stimulate greater local interest in the long list of movie exhibitors (to say nothing of local live producers) who are responsive to our interests and sensitivities and who do indeed need our moral and financial support.

In the spirit of Consumer Bureau (if I may be permitted a plug for my favorite local organization), it's often more rewarding for all concerned to promote good guys than to harass "bad guys!"

A Cooperative Venture

To the Editor of Town Topics: We who coordinated the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra children's concerts on November 10th at McCarter Theater would like to thank the many people who helped. Borough police and University police were on hand to direct traffic. The staff of McCarter Theater was of great assistance. Mothers from many of the schools helped New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League members to usher children in and out of the theater. School officials, teachers, and PTO members backed the project from start to finish.

The children too deserve much praise and thanks for their splendid cooperation. They were a super attentive, wonderful group. The musicians themselves were heard to comment that they had seldom played for such a receptive young audience.

We thank one and all.

Accusations without Merit.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Mrs. Hutter's recent letter (TOWN TOPICS, Nov. 18) attacking the Democrats on Princeton Township Committee, and me in particular, for the appointment of

Committeewoman Margaret Broadwater to the Regional Planning Board must be answered, lest any of your readers unfamiliar with the facts be misled into thinking that there is merit in her accusations.

Here are the facts:

(1) The particular seat on the Regional Planning Board to be filled by Mrs. Broadwater is the so-called Class II Member, a member of Township Committee other than the Mayor. The Mayor serves ex officio as the so-called Class I Member. The Class II appointment is made by the Township Committee, not by the Mayor, and is held by the appointee for his or her term in office.

(2) The particular Class II seat in question had been filled with distinction by Mr. Moffat during his previous term on Township Committee. But for the failure of a voting machine which voided the election in November 1975, Mr. Moffat would in all likelihood have been reappointed to that seat last January.

(3) Township residents will recall that the four remaining members of the 1976 Township Committee, two Republicans and two Democrats, could not agree on the prescribed manner of filling the fifth seat on the Committee left vacant as a result of that voided election, but did agree to seek a declaratory judgment from the Court to resolve the impasse.

(4) Judge Schoch ruled last December that the Municipal Governing Body Vacancy Law obtained, that the legally correct method of filling the fifth seat was for the Township Committee to make a temporary appointment of someone from the same party as that of Mr. Moffat, and that there should be a contest at the next general election for the unexpired two-year term. Had the new Committee taking office in January 1976 abided by that ruling, we could at that time have filled the fifth seat, and we would have, quite properly in my view, reappointed Mr. Moffat as well to the Class II seat on the Planning Board.

(5) Instead, Mrs. Hutter joined Mrs. Hall in appealing Judge Schoch's ruling to the Court of Appeals. Pending that higher court's decision, the Class II appointment to the Planning Board was kept open, since Committee assumed the decision of the Court of Appeals would be imminent. Maintaining the status quo until then was, I believe, the only fair course.

(6) The appeals process, however, took six months of 1976. As the months rolled by, Mrs. Hutter proposed sometime in the spring the appointment of Mrs. Hall to the Class II seat. That appointment was totally unacceptable to Mrs. Broadwater and me, for reasons which need not be developed here, but which have nothing to do with our partisanship.

(7) When the ruling of the Court of Appeals finally came in June upholding Judge Schoch, Mrs. Hutter joined Mrs. Broadwater and me in making the temporary appointment of Mr. Moffat to the Committee, which then appointed him to the Class II seat on the Planning Board he had held.

(8) Upon Mr. Blair's recent election to the remaining two-year term on Township Committee, Mr. Moffat stepped down, and the Committee then had to make the Class II appointment to the Planning Board to replace him. Assuming Mrs. Hutter would be the Mayor beginning in 1977 and would take the Class I seat on the Planning Board in my place, the majority of the members of Committee judged that the best person to join her would be Mrs. Broadwater, whose eminent qualifications I need not elaborate on. Even Mrs. Hutter, in voting for the appointment of Mrs. Broadwater, publicly recognized them. Mrs. Broadwater was appointed at the public meeting of November 11, when Mr. Blair took his seat. The appointment was entirely proper and appropriate. I assumed all were satisfied, but Mrs. Hall was absent from the Committee meeting that night.

open letter I have written to Mayor Bleiman:

I welcome your invitation to further "continue" the subject of Mrs. Hutter's letter concerning Margaret Broadwater's recent appointment to the Planning Board. As the press was not present at the Township Committee meeting on Saturday, November 27, I feel I should repeat my comments.

In your recent answer to her letter you stated that you assumed that all members of Committee were satisfied with the appointment, but that I was absent from the meeting that night. In fact I had not read the agenda and was unaware of the contemplated appointment.

You had stated the week before in TOWN TOPICS that perhaps Mrs. Hutter's letter was prompted by someone not present at the meeting. If you meant to imply it was me, you are way off base. I had a death in the family that Thursday morning. Without having read my agenda, I departed for Chicago and returned late Sunday.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Hutter informed me of her intention to write the letter and offered a brief precis of the contents. I told her I thought it was a good idea. That was my entire knowledge of the letter until I read it in the paper. To imply that I would prompt such a letter from behind the scenes -- under those circumstances -- is unthinkable.

In point 6 of your letter to the editor, referring to Mrs. Hutter's attempt to appoint me to the Planning Board last spring, you state, "that appointment was totally unacceptable to Mrs. Broadwater and me, for reasons which need not be developed here, but which have nothing to do with our partisanship."

I think you should clarify those reasons which have nothing to do with your partisanship.....because I have certainly given you ample partisan reason not to appoint me. In my partisanship for environmental concerns, I have disagreed with some directions that the Planning Board is taking. I have opposed the "loop road" on the current circulation plan and criticized the "Village Concept" and overall growth projections on environmental grounds in the proposed Housing Master Plan. You are a member of the Housing Subcommittee. By making this lame-duck appointment you have in effect continued to politicize the Planning Board.

I agree with Mrs. Hutter's letter, including its recognition and appreciation of Mrs. Broadwater's abilities, in its entirety. I am sorry that circumstances prevented me from writing a similar one. Had I done so, I would have urged that since the seat was held open so long for Abbot Low Moffat, it be kept open six weeks longer for Hugo Hoogenboom who is outstandingly well qualified to serve and whose election clearly mirrored the deep concern of Township residents for the environment in which they live.

Then, as a complete surprise to Mrs. Broadwater, Mr. Blair, and me, Mrs. Hutter's letter appeared in the press the following week charging that the Democrats were playing politics, and moreover, warning citizens that we might try to "stack" the Planning Board with last minute additional appointments before the non-partisan Republican majority took over in January. Everyone should know that there are no other vacancies on the Planning Board, and I know of no Township citizen appointee to the Board who intends to resign between now and January 1st.

There are other charges made by Mrs. Hutter in her letter to which I will not respond here. I do not believe in members of Township Committee engaging in accusations against other members of Committee via letters to the editor. The proper forum is a public meeting of Township Committee, and this matter can be further continued there, if she or anyone else so desires.

My dismay at her letter in no way diminishes the admiration I have for Mrs. Hutter. She is an outstanding Committeewoman, and I have been fortunate in serving with her on Township Committee during my tenure as Mayor. She will make an excellent Mayor come January, and I hope that she will carry out her duties in a manner that gives full credence to the belief in nonpartisanship she has repeatedly professed.

AMBLESIDE EXPANDS garden with built-in benches and planter boxes. New Building Opens. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Scudder, Jr., Ambleside Gardens, Route 206, Belle Mead, have opened a new building at their garden center - a "Terre House" that more than doubles the size of the present shop. "We decided to expand," said Mr. Scudder "because the area around us is expanding rapidly, we needed more space, and there is a growing demand for house plants and accessories being extensively used in interior decorating."

The two-story building, designed by William Miller and Associates, architects, features four different levels - two decks above the main floor and a lower level garden with a pool and waterfall shaded by a giant tree fern. The top deck is a gallery featuring folk art, crafts, and wall hangings from Asia, Africa and South America. From the gallery a door leads to an upper balcony which is being developed into a roof garden with built-in benches and planter boxes.

Descending from the gallery is like a trip through a tree house, where a forest of hanging baskets are suspended from hand-forged iron brackets. Ceramic planters and pottery by artisans in the area are displayed on this level.

The main level is an extension of the Christmas shop which this year will feature decorations from more than 25 countries. Along the outside walls of the new building will be two vest-pocket gardens: one for sun-loving dwarf evergreens, the other for ferns and wildflowers which prefer a shady environment. Future plans call for a cactus garden in the Terre House and development of a solar heating system.

AWARDED PATENT For Extrusion Method. Frank J. Fuchs Jr., of 9 University Way, Princeton

Frank J. Fuchs Jr.

Junction, a research consultant in metal forming studies at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center, was recently granted a U.S. Patent. The invention relates to an apparatus and methods for continuously extruding a rod of indefinite length to produce a wire of indefinite length.

Mr. Fuchs holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Duke University and is a registered professional engineer in both North Carolina and New Jersey. He has received approximately 90 U.S. Patents on various machines, tools and processes, many of them in the area of high pressure metal forming. Under his direction, a new method for continuously forming wire by high pressure extrusion was developed at the Research Center.

TWO ACCOUNTS WON

By Gillespie & Pavelec Agency. Richard J. Gillespie, president of the advertising firm Gillespie & Pavelec in Princeton Junction, has announced that The Courier-News and United States Suburban Press, Inc., have appointed the agency to handle their advertising and promotion.

The Courier-News is central New Jersey's largest daily newspaper. Its new campaign, created by Gillespie & Pavelec, Inc. features the theme "We bring your world home to you" in both print and broadcast advertising.

USSPI, a newspaper network of nearly 1,000 suburban newspapers, delivers to advertisers suburban-only households in more than 40 major metro areas. Gillespie & Pavelec will stress the uniqueness of the buying power of USSPI's audience in advertising and promotional materials created for the company.

AGENCY NAMED

By United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks, whose headquarters are in Princeton Junction, has designated Keyes, Martin & Company as its sole advertising and sales promotion agency.

United Jersey Banks with over $1.9 billion in assets, is the state's second largest financial services organization. It offers business and individual customers a wide variety of financial services through 117 offices throughout New Jersey. Included in UJB are 12 banks and four bank-related subsidiaries, among them First National Bank of Princeton.

Book Records Colorful History of Delaware and Raritan Canal From Its Start in 1831 to Major Effect on Life in Princeton

Like many of us, Elizabeth G.C. Menzies is irresistibly drawn to the water. But as a Princeton photographer, artist and author, she carries her interest beyond the reflections mirrored on a rippling surface to the role which rivers and waterways played in the developing history of the surrounding area.

In two earlier books Miss Menzies gave a portrait of the Upper Delaware Valley and of the Millstone River in a combination of words and pictures—the pictures being her own excellent photographs. Now comes "Passage Between Rivers: A Portfolio of Photographs with a History of the Delaware and Raritan Canal," published last week by Rutgers University Press.

This is an engaging little book which can be read in a single sitting or browsed through intermittently, because the text is designed in units of a page, each dealing with an aspect of the canal and accompanied by an appropriate photograph or 19th Century illustration. Miss Menzies traces the waterway from its long delayed construction in 1831 to its heyday as a transportation link carrying great volumes of cargo along its 45-mile length from Bordentown to New Brunswick, to its decline and use primarily as a water source and as a recreation area for bird watchers, canoers and joggers.

It was Robert Field Stockton, grandson of the signer, who came to the aid of the faltering Delaware and Raritan Canal Company by barrowing from his wealthy father-in-law, John Potter, to buy 4,800 shares of the stock in the company before the expiration of its charter. The stage coach business and innkeeping had enjoyed a long and profitable monopoly in the two villages, Princeton and Kingston, that were halfway between New York and Philadelphia.

Financed in Europe, Robert Stockton became the president of the Canal Company and persuaded the owners of the also newly-incorporated Camden and Amboy Railroad, forerunners of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to join in a merger which became known as the Joint Companies and in effect a new monopoly. Stockton also made a trip to Europe to borrow additional capital when the cost of construction soared from the first estimates of $800,000 to $1.1 million at a time when America was suffering a recession.

He established the company headquarters at Princeton

SERENE WATERWAY: The Delaware and Raritan Canal as viewed from Griggstown and photographed by Elizabeth G.C. Menzies. In her new book of photographs and history of the canal, she describes the once-bustling thoroughfare "a welcome ribbon of green across the ever increasing congestion of central New Jersey."

Basin, thus giving it special importance, and built Canal (now Alexander) Street from near the Stockton family home, Morven, down to the Basin. Princeton Bank and Trust began at the head of Canal Street, and coal and lumber companies, of which Grover Lumber is the last surviving, sprang up alongside this thoroughfare near the canal, which bore heavy construction materials.

Miss Menzies has also focused on the canal houses, (some were wooden and some built of stone), the locks (there were 14 in all), and the 60 pivot bridges of which the one that the Dinky passes over several times a day is the last in existence. She writes of the mile teams hitched in tandems that did a 14-mile stint a day, of the coal barges bringing anthracite from Pennsylvania mines and of the daily steam packet pleasure boats.

As Princeton prospered, a carpenter-architect named Charles Steadman bought up the land on the canal side of the town and, using a guide to Classical Revival, erected houses on speculation on Canal, Mercer, Stockton and Steadman streets (now Library Place), thus becoming Princeton's first developer, Miss Menzies, who was co-author with Constance Greiff of "Princeton Architecture: A Pictorial History of Town and Campus," is an intrigued with architecture as she is with water.

The book ends, fittingly, with the formation of the Delaware and Raritan Canal Coalition by Lee Bullitt and Margen Penick in the late 1960's and early 1970's to insure the preservation of the old waterway and its environs. The canal has now been designated a National Historic Site and in October, 1974, Governor Byrne signed a law creating a commission of eight empowered to prevent any detrimental construction that would arm the canal and to designate a green belt along it.

FIRESTONE GETS GRANT

To Improve System. The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation has awarded a grant of $190,000 to Princeton University toward the support of a four-year program to improve user access to the collection of the University Library. Descriptions of the methods used and the results obtained in the program will be shared with other research libraries.

"The Mellon Foundation's grant to Princeton represents part of a major effort to diminish obstacles between the resources of research libraries and their users," said University Librarian Richard W. Boss. "The Foundation is supporting the study of allied problems among various library groups

OBITUARIES

Edmund S. DeLong, who had been director of public information at Princeton University for two decades before retiring in 1965, died November 30, at his home, 190 Mercer Street. He was 76 years old.

Born in Lexington, Ky., Mr. DeLong was a member of the Class of 1922 at Princeton where he belonged to Ivy Club. Following graduation, he served on the Sunday staff of the Kansas City Star; the city desk of United Press in New York; and, for 16 years, on the editorial staff of the New York Sun.

While with the Sun, his major assignments included the Lindbergh, Byrd, and Chamberlin-Levine Atlantic flights; Democratic and Republican national conventions; the Hall-Mills, Snyder-Gray, and Richard Bruno Hauptmann trials; the Bank of United States investigation; and phases of the Seabury Investigation of Tammany Hall.

During leaves from the Sun, Mr. DeLong edited the Princeton Alumni Weekly in 1930-31, directed publicity for the Attorney General of the State of New York and for the fusion group that fought the Pendergrast machine in Kansas City.

Served in Naval Intelligence. While with the New York attorney general's office, he collaborated with Watson Washburn, head of the Fraud Bureau, on a book, "High and Low Financiers," revealing the methods used by stock swindlers.

Mr. DeLong was called to active duty in the spring of 1941 as a lieutenant in Naval Intelligence. He served in the Public Information Office of the Third Naval District and was officer-in-charge, Eastern Sea Frontier, when he retired with the rank of captain. His service also included convoy duty in the North Atlantic and in the Mediterranean.

He joined the administration at Princeton University in 1945 as director of public relations with the initial responsibility for planning a publicity program for the University's bicentennial, celebrated in 1947. He served for many years on the Board of Trustees of The Daily Princetonian.

Mr. DeLong was active in Princeton civic affairs and served for 25 years as a member of the Princeton Borough Housing Authority. He was a member of the Nassau Club, the Nassau Gun Club, the Pretty Brook Club and the Princeton Investors.

He is survived by his wife, the former Beatrice Comstock; a daughter, Mrs. David R. Bundy, of Washington, D.C.; and four grandchildren.

The service, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home, will be private. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be sent to the American Cancer Society.

George M. Cook, 80 of 1 Lakeview Avenue, Kingston, died November 26 at Princeton Medical Center. Born in Upper Freehold Township, Mr. Cook lived in Kingston for nearly 50 years and was employed by Princeton Nurseries for 43 years until his retirement in 1970. He was a member of the Kingston Methodist Church.

Husband of the late Bessie G. Cook, he is survived by a son, Harry M. Cook of Kingston; a daughter, Dorothy Toma of Fords; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Mary Breese of Dayton, Mrs. Gene Cornow of Lawrenceville and Mrs. Alice Cook of Kingston; four sisters, Mrs. Laura Baldauf and Mrs. Helen Israel, both of Mercerville, Mrs. Bertha Kowaleskie of Hamilton Township and Mrs. Herbert Rosenberg of Detroit, Mich.; a brother, Donald Cook of Haddonfield, 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. David R. Probert, pastor of the Kingston Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Patricia Corya Langston of 15 North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, died November 23 in her home. Born in Indianapolis, she was a graduate of Swarthmore College and lived in Hopewell for more than 20 years.

Mrs. Langston was a stock analyst and portfolio investment manager for the State of New Jersey Pension Fund. She was a founding member of the board of directors of the Youth Employment Service here.

Surviving are her husband, Douglas Langston, and a son, David Langston of Norwalk, Conn.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 2 in the Nassau Presbyterian Church. Memorial contributions may be made to the Hunterdon Medical Center.

Mrs. Ida Pierson, 95, of 70 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, died November 24 at her home. Born in Lawrence Township, Mrs. Pierson lived in Hopewell for the past 25 years. She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church in Hopewell and the Lawrenceville Homemakers.

Wife of the late Randolph Pierson, she is survived by two sons, Clifton Pierson of Trenton and Harry Pierson of Pennell, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Holcombe of Hopewell and Mrs. Margaret Dunn of Barstow, Calif.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a Hopewell funeral home, the Rev. Robert A. Beringer officiating. Burial was in Lawrenceville Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the First United Presbyterian Church Memorial Fund.

Bruce P. Markham, 76, died November 25 at his home in Hopewell Township. An industrial engineer, Mr. Markham lived in the Pennington-Hopewell area for 13 years. He was a native of Harrisburg, Pa.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen B. Markham, a brother, Paul T. Markham of Harrisburg, and a sister, Mrs. Florence M. Hanover of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

A private family service was held at a Pennington funeral home with burial at the convenience of the family. Memorial contributions may be made to a favorite charity.

Eugene L. Larson, 63, of Camdenton, Mo., formerly of Rocky Hill, died November 23 in a hospital in Columbia, Mo. Mr. Larson lived in Rocky Hill for 28 years before moving to Missouri and was retired from the American Smelting and Refining Company in Fords. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Johnson Larson; two daughters, Mrs. Delores Mehl of Camdenton and Mrs. Judith Kleuser of Pleasantville; a son, Ronald B. Larson of Piscataway; two brothers, Leon Larson of Beach Haven and Theodore Larson of Framingham, Mass.; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Christensen of North Brunswick and Mrs. Inez Williams of Lawrence Harbor; 10 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. Frank Bahr, pastor of the Rocky Hill Reformed Church, officiating. Burial was in Rocky Hill Cemetery.

Elizabeth Vanderbilt Jamison, 77, of 67 Irwin Place, Lawrence Township, died November 24 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Wife of the late Russell L. Jamison, she is survived by a step-daughter, Mrs. Edith Noa of Oxnard, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. Alford Albertson of Mercerville.

The service was held at a Lawrence Township funeral home, the Rev. Norman S. Kindt, pastor of the Lawrence Road Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Richboro, Pa., cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Lawrence Road Presbyterian Church or to the American Cancer Society.

the library's newly installed automated circulation system, which permits the application of modern technology to traditional library maintenance techniques.

The Mellon grant will aid, specifically, computer analysis of the library collection to determine the need for duplication of heavily used books, and for removal and outside storage of those rarely used. Statistical analysis will also indicate which areas in the open-stack collection are especially subject to shelving errors. The library will then seek to introduce systematic, possibly electronic, shelf-reading of these problem areas to decrease the number of "lost" books.

New Jersey Public Television Scheduling Numerous Programs To Coincide with Observation of State's "Ten Crucial Days"

In honor of the "Ten Crucial Days" that turned the tide of the American Revolution in and around Trenton and Princeton, New Jersey Public Television has planned nearly two dozen special programs, to begin Tuesday, December 14, on channel 52.

The "Ten Crucial Days" will re-enact and celebrate the period from December 24, when Washington crossed the Delaware to defeat the Hessians under Colonel Johannes Rall, to January 3, the Battle of Princeton.

Film coverage of the annual Crossing of the Delaware by the Washington Crossing Foundation will be seen Christmas night at 9 p.m. The next evening at 8 p.m., five minutes will be devoted to the March on Trenton.

Prior to the "Ten Crucial Days," the network will air a number of documentaries on New Jersey history and famous personalities, all produced by NJPTV. Among them will be the heralded "Crossroads Victory," premiered in September, and "Thomas A. Edison: The Old Man," which has been selected to be seen nationally by the Public Broadcasting Service.

From Rocky Hill. Other

Allan, 520 Lafayette Avenue, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ho, 57 Foxboro Road, Lawrenceville, November 18; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Carlton, 2579 Main Street, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fein, 1 Robin Way, both on November 19; Mr. and Mrs. D. attractions will be "The D & R Canal," "Famous Killer Sharks," "The Steelmakers," "The Great Batsto Furnace," a delivery by "Jerz" on "Jerseyfile," "Gomberg at 82," "McKonkey's Ferry," and "Fireside Kitchen: The Colonial Christmas Meal."

"The Colonial Christmas Meal" will be prepared over the hearth by host-chef Dorothea Connolly on Sunday, December 19, and repeated December 22 and 23. The site will be "Rockingham" in Rocky Hill, where George Washington spent his final days of the war writing his farewell address to the men who had served him.

Mrs. Connolly will center the traditional meal around turkey. The Cranbury Consort will provide Early American Christmas music and the house will be decorated with Mrs. Connolly's own creations.

Music from Moorestown. "Jerseyfile" will also be flavored with the past when host Ruth Alampi introduces the Moorestown Madrigals, a musical group from Moorestown High School that will don Revolutionary dress and present authentic traditional carols, dancing and music, accompanied by harpsicord and recorder.

Jr., R.D. 2, Cranbury, both on November 27.

AUCTION IS FEATURE

Of Christmas Boutique. The Christmas Carol Shoppe sponsored by the Montgomery Woman's Club will be held Saturday from 10 to 4 and will feature a Chinese Auction for the first time.

Prizes donated by merchants will be displayed, and envelopes containing 10 tickets each will be on sale for $1. Jars near the prizes will hold the tickets, which may be placed all for one prize or divided among the desired

As the network's programming looks into the heart of history, it will also look toward the nation's 300th anniversary. Louis Presti, Trenton producer-director and coordinator for the Bicentennial, will shoot a half-hour documentary on activities around the "Ten Crucial Days" for a time capsule to be put into the ground by the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission. The capsule will be opened in 2076.

"We will have coverage of the battle enactments, crossing, parades and variety of activities," Mr. Presti says, "and we will also inform our descendants of how we live and feel at this critical time in our history. We may, for instance, describe the manner in which we televise a program in 1976, what cameras we use, and even what vehicles bring us to location. The gas-burning auto of today may be an antique in another hundred years."

Presti produced "Crossroads to Victory," the hour-long dramatic documentary on New Jersey's role in the American Revolution, which will be seen Christmas night at 8 on the network.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO SPEAK ON DEATH
In Seminary Series. Dr. Daniel L. Migliore, professor of theology at Princeton Seminary, will discuss "Theological Perspectives on Death and Dying" in the campus center auditorium of Princeton Seminary on Tuesday, at 7:30. The lecture is the final presentation in the bioethics series made available to the public this fall.

Dr. Migliore is a summa cum laude graduate of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., who earned his divinity degree from Princeton Seminary and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton University. An ordained minister in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., he joined the Seminary faculty in 1962. He is the author of numerous articles and book reviews and edited the 20-year cumulative index of "Theology Today."

BOOK PROGRAM SET
At Jewish Center. A group of capsule book reviews, with introduction and commentary by Mrs. Carol Glatt, will be presented after services Friday evening at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, as part of a program in observance of Jewish Book Month. The brief Shabbat evening service begins at 8:15. Reviews have been prepared by Arthur Firester on "World of Our Fathers" by Irving Howe; Loren Hurwitz on "What Judaism Says About" by Louis Jacob; Mae Rockland on "The Jewish Yellow Pages" by Mae and Michael Rockland; and Joyce Usiskin on "Rejoice in Thy Festival -- A Treasury of Wisdom, Wit and Humor for Sabbath and Jewish Holiday" by Philip Goodman. All four books selected for review by the library committee were published within the past year.

An Oneg Shabbat, refreshments and fellowship, will be held afterward in the Library recently installed in the Bet Am (Community House) next door to the Center. The hostesses are Eva Kalish and Linda Meyer, co-chairmen of the library committee, and Beverly Glassman, former chairman who continues to serve on the committee.

They will help guests familiarize themselves with the collection of classical and modern literature, non-fiction works of Jewish interest, and periodicals, for adults and children, including some fine new additions. Materials and information from the Jewish Book Council of the National Jewish Welfare Board, which promotes Jewish Book Month annually, will be on display at this library open house. The community is welcome to participate in any aspect of the program.

TO SPONSOR CONCERT
By Missionary Team. The Christian Center of Princeton will present Living Sound, a young missionary team with headquarters in Tulsa, Okla., in a concert Tuesday at 7:30 in the Center, 223 North Harrison Street. A non-profit, independent organization, Living Sound has two full time music groups, one touring the North American continent while the other ministers overseas.

The seven member team of vocalists are backed by brass, percussion, woodwinds and strings as they present a program of "switched-on" Gospel music. To date they have been around the world and back, covering 40 countries and five continents in their six year odyssey. They are directed by Larry Dalton, a composer-arranger of contemporary Christian music and formerly music director of the "Oral Roberts and You" television series. He will be at the keyboards.

ORGANIST FEATURED
In Lutheran Church Series. Rick DeKarski, an organ student at Westminster Choir College who has had several years experience as a church and theatre organist, will play for the First Monday music series Monday at 8 at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church on Princeton-Hightstown Road. Everyone is invited. Mr. DeKarski has been the Saturday night organist at the Old Rahway Theatre for the past six years and has played at Radio City Music Hall, the Atlantic City Convention Hall and the War Memorial Auditorium in Trenton. Using an Allen 420 Theatre Organ with Conn Electric Band and external speakers, he will present a program of classical and popular music. Part of the program will include a Christmas Sing-Along using old vaudeville slides provided by the Garden State Theater Society.

A nursery will be provided for small children. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken. Esther McDonald is in charge of the series, the Rev. G. Frederick Schott III is pastor of the church.

PUBLIC LECTURE SET
At Princeton Seminary. Dr. Sidney E. Mead will deliver a public lecture, "Civil Religion vs. the Religion of the Republic," on Wednesday, December 8, at 7:45 in the main lounge of Princeton Seminary's Campus Center. Dr. Mead is Distinguished Visiting Surdna Professor of American Studies and History at Rider College this semester.

A graduate of the University of Redlands, Dr. Mead earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago Divinity School. He holds honorary degrees from Meadville Theological School and Redlands.

BULLETIN NOTES
The Holiday Bazaar of St.

Candlelight Service Set
The Princeton University Chapel will hold its annual Christmas Candlelight Service on Thursday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in the Chapel. The traditional service of carols, lessons and Holy Communion will be led by Dean Ernest Gordon and members of the University Chapel Fellowship. David Hoffelt '73 will be the organist, and special music will be provided by the Katzenjammers. A reception in Murray-Dodge Hall follows the service, which is open to the public.

Matthew's Episcopal Church in Pennington will be held Saturday from 10 to 4 and Monday from 10 to 1. The bazaar will feature a Scandinavian theme, especially in the many ornaments and creche hangings, and the luncheon, served from 11:30 to 2, will have a Scandinavian flair.

There will be Santa Claus, a children's workshop and gift table, games, movies and children's fare for lunch for the younger set. Adults will find a plant booth, preserved foods, baked goods, aprons, handmade wooden toys, knitted and crocheted apparel and Christmas decorations of all kinds, as well as a service auction of donated services located in the Parish Hall.

The Rev. Timothy Cogan, Episcopal chaplain at Princeton University and Diocesan College Work chairman of the William Alexander Proctor Foundation, will deliver the sermon at the Holy Eucharist Service at 11 on Sunday at All Saints' Church, Terhune Road. Fr. Cogan will speak on ministering to the spiritual needs of young persons in our society.

The Proctor Foundation sponsors two full time Episcopal chaplaincies at Princeton, where the work is now in its 101st year, and at Rutgers University. It also supports the work of several part time chaplaincies in Central and Southern New Jersey.

TO ANSWER

BOX NUMBER ADVERTISEMENTS

Simply address your reply to the box number given in the advertisement (e.g. —E-40, Town Topics) and add P.O. Box, 664, Princeton, N.J. 08540. Please include in your reply only material that will fit into a regular business envelope.

NOTICE

In compliance with a ruling of the State Supreme Court, all newspapers must ascertain that employment ads do not discriminate between sexes.

For example, titles such as "Salesman," "Nurse" and "Girl Friday" should be replaced, respectively, by "Salesperson," "Nurse (M/W)" and "General Office Work M/W". TOWN TOPICS has a copy of the Division of Civil Rights booklet, "A Guide for Employers to the New Jersey Law against Discrimination," and will provide assistance in the wording of all such ads upon request. Advertisers' cooperation is sought in meeting the requirements of the law.

REAL ESTATE PROFESSIONAL

Here is a chance for just one outstanding professional to join the areas leading Real Estate firm.

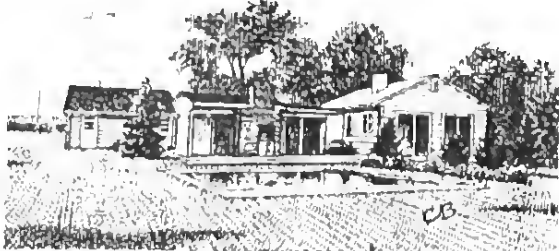

You will get all the advantages of the very best marketing program - the largest ad budget, super signs, professional management. The list goes on and on.

If you are not satisfied with your progress (financially and professionally) give us a call and let's talk about your future in Real Estate with us.

OPPORTUNITY BECKONS!

BUILT FOR TWO

or maybe three - this rambling ranch has a contemporary air! Through a judicious and interesting blend of wood, glass and brick, with handsome two level redwood deck spanning the rear of the house and joining the living and bedroom wings, it brings the outdoors in - and the indoors out. Informal living room with fireplace, separate and sunny dining room, large wood paneled "country" kitchen, two bedrooms and two handsomely tiled baths. Huge two car heated garage (could become another room, central air conditioning - and the pool.

All set on an acre and a half in a pretty, quiet and rural location, with brook running through the grounds. $72,500

WHEN IT COMES TO SAFE INVESTMENTS, REMEMBER —LAND LASTS, AND VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF LIGHT!

STONYBROOK HOMESITE

The buffalo may not roam on this high meadowland, nor wander down to the wide brook to drink, but you can be sure the deer and other wildlife do! Equally enjoyable for people is the lovely pastoral setting - almost 20 acres in a particularly desirable estate area.

MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP LAND

Approximately 135 pretty, rolling acres with stream.

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP BUILDING LOT

High, wooded 4+ acres sloping to wide brook. Private!

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP LAND

Eight + wooded acres with sewer & water. Fine area.

A LIVING COOL HOUSE

Chock full of appeal, shiny clean, and neat as a pin from top to bottom, this 3 - or possibly 4 - bedroom Cape Cod has just about everything a family of 3 or 4 - or possibly 5 - could want! Living room with beamed ceiling and fireplace, kitchen, adjoining breakfast room with wet bar, 3 bedrooms (one on first floor), den or 4th bedroom, 2 baths, enclosed porch - all are delightful, but the highlight has to be the surprisingly spacious dining room opening on a greenhouse! There's a good basement too, with workshop space, laundry tub, and possible play area. All on a lovely, low-care acre complete with brook and birdcover, and backed by old woods. This LIGHT listing is really a bright one! $79,500

FOR RENT: Two Pennington houses. One 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, part furnished. $500.

Treat yourself to sheer luxury!

Imagine breakfasting in a lush, year round subtropical garden ... right in your own home. We've seen many a house with inside planters, but never one actually built around a garden. The cathedral ceilinged living room, dining room, kitchen and entry all open directly to this central skylighted garden.

Also on this level is a master bedroom with super dressing room and bath.

Curving steps go down between rocks and foliage to the children's level with three more bedrooms and bath and a TV room which also opens to the garden.

This sleek, contemporary house is now under construction on a 4.5 acre lot with trees and a lovely view.

Wonder what the outside looks like? Call us. $125,000

MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP

A brand new Cape Cod Colonial now being completed on a wooded acre plot for most desirable country living.

The main floor contains formal living and dining rooms, kitchen with breakfast room, an unusual family playroom with fireplace and balcony, and a complete master bedroom suite of most luxurious proportions. There is a second bedroom or private study adjoining. The second floor has 3 bedrooms and a large compartmented bath.

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP

A superb Colonial-style house nestled in a pine grove of approximately an acre and a half. There is an entry foyer floored with quarry tile opening to a formal living and dining room. A super modern kitchen, wonderfully equipped with a large breakfast area. A family room handsomely detailed including rustic fireplace. Full bath. There are five bedrooms on the second floor with two full baths. A sixth bedroom or studio below. This is a beautifully maintained property, large spacious, yet manageable. The present owner is asking $159,500

Investment Property - Princeton Township

These are four adjoining row houses in an established neighborhood. Each house consists of 4 or 5 rooms including new kitchens and tiled baths, new wiring and copper plumbing. Standard frame construction, asphalt roofing, hot air heat fueled by oil. A fine investment opportunity, for details contact King's Grant Real Estate. Present owner is asking $84,900

A PRINCETON BOROUGH RENTAL

Beautifully located for walking to the University, or right at the New York bus for the commuter. The house is a contemporary ranch-style with a huge luxurious living-dining room combination with fireplace, a handsome study and a large country kitchen, all with superbly detailed built-ins. There are three family bedrooms and three full baths plus a powder room. There is a pleasant flagstone terrace overlooking the garden and the in-ground heated swimming pool. The owner is asking $850 a month.

LE PETIT CHATEAU PRINCETON...

This well-bred country estate is a serene, elegant residence providing both Princeton and the allure of pastoral views.

Tranquilly poised on a hilltop, it commands an intoxicating vista of green hills and gentle meadows.

It has all the creature comforts - spacious drawing and dining rooms - three downstairs bedrooms and a study, all with their own private baths - a 30-foot brick-walled country kitchen with solarium windows to the view, a pool, a cabana guest house - and a spectacular new second floor master bedroom with an unparalleled panoramic view.

Situated on 6 1/2 acres, with ample rolling hills for horses and a riding meadow, the house with mature landscaping, is French Provincial in style with the latest, modern appointments throughout. Centrally air conditioned and five minutes from Nassau Hall.

Interested parties should make an appointment for further details.

WEST WINDSOR

Here is a handsomely maintained traditional house on a 3/4 acre plot in West Windsor's choicest location.

The house is but two years old, frame construction with cedar shingles. The center hall opens to formal living and dining rooms and a delightful family room adjacent to the country kitchen and powder room. Upstairs are the four bedrooms and two full baths. Now available at $75,000

Chance Remark Leads Philip Shays into Role Of Township Negotiator on Police Salaries

Retired and looking for worthwhile ways to pass the time even though he's on call for service by a Federal agency--Philip Shays has offered his professional services and his time in a way that gives a new dimension to Princeton's long and honored tradition of community service.

Mr. Shays is advising the Township in its contract negotiations with the police force. A labor relations man who began with Republic Aviation in 1935, and served Schenley Industries and Lorillard Tobacco until he took early retirement in 1969, Philip Shays found himself at a dinner party in September sitting next to Township Mayor Jay Bleiman.

"What's your field?" the mayor asked.
Mr. Shays told him.
"I wish I had you!" the mayor sighed. "We're getting ready for police negotiations, and I hate it!"
"If you'd like, I'd be glad to sit down with you..." Mr. Shays began. And that was that.

Getting Acquainted. "We had our first official meeting with the PBA (the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association) November 6," Mr. Shays says. "It was an exploratory, get-acquainted kind of ritual."

"There are always some weak attempts at hilarity--the horns aren't out yet!--and the union presentation is made, and the company screams and holds its head. You know. When you meet again, you've pondered, and you can really begin."

The anniversary date of the Township-PBA contract is December 31, with a provision for automatic renewal. The first meeting should have been held October 13, Mr. Shays says. That's the required 120 days before municipal budgets must be submitted. If there is no agreement by the 90th day before the budget submission date, impasse is declared, and the negotiations go to fact-finding on the 60th day.

A Different Education. An amiable man who ran away as a youth, joined the Navy and worked the Yangtze River on a patrol boat instead of going to college, Philip Shays doesn't seem like the kind who would toss daggers across the table at the union representatives.

But he has some firm ideas. "I think it's nonsense to perpetuate a continuing round

LABOR ADVISOR: Philip Shays, corporate labor relations director all his professional life, is continuing along that line in retirement. He's serving as volunteer advisor to Princeton Township in its negotiations with the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

after round after round of wanting more, and more, and was summoned by the more, and if you can't get it concretely, through fringe area...I don't see how government or corporations can stand this! There MUST be alternative ways to satisfy avid demands."

Then he smiles.
"We're not out to hurt the police, or confound them. We're just searching for the most reasonable arrangement that can be found."

That search--usually successful, from management's point of view--took Phillip Shays in 1942 away from Republic and into, of all places, a Steinway piano factory.

A flyer, he had offered his services to the Air Force. Instead of sending him into the wild blue yonder, they assigned him to the Steinway plant on Long Island which was making CG4A invasion gliders.

"Not a wildly successful project. Germans shot most of them down..."

On the Move. Then Henry Kaiser began looking, and the government chose Mr. Shays as a national labor relations trouble shooter, with headquarters in Bristol, Pennsylvania, where the inner wing and engine nacelle for the Northrup Black Widow night fighter were being made. That was a three-year tour of duty.

After that, he went to Schenley--"I liked their samples!"--and was labor relations director there for WORLD PREMIERE of a new play by the Scandinavian writer Per Olov Enquist, "The Night of the Tribades," is this Thursday, at McCarter Theatre. Kathryn Walker portrays an alcoholic lesbian involved in the tempestuous life of Sweden's famous playwright August Strindberg, played by Donald Madden.

News Of The THEATRES

STRINDBERG ON STAGE

A Slice of His Life. "...a very black comedy," which is about America in 1976 as much as Sweden in 1889. That's the way playwright Per Olov Enquist, at a recent press conference in Princeton, described his play, "The Night of the Tribades," which will have its American premiere at McCarter this Thursday at 7:30. It will play in McCarter's repertory through Sunday, December 19.

Enquist is regarded as one of Scandinavia's most promising writers, and "...Tribades" has been performed in a dozen cities throughout Europe, translated into as many languages. The English translation on McCarter's stage is by Ross Shideler.

The play describes the relationships between angry, tortured Strindberg, a noted Swedish playwright of his own day (Donald Madden), his frustrated wife Siri (Patricia Elliott), and her lesbian friend Marie (Kathryn Walker).

Dramatic action occurs during a rehearsal of Strindberg's one-act play, "The Stranger," and embraces also the actor Viggo Schiwe (Ted Graeber), who is witness to the stormy happenings on stage at the theatre in Copenhagen, and a photographer, played by Lawrence Holofcener, who has come to record the trio with his camera.

Michael Kahn, McCarter's producing director, is the director for this production. Michael H. Yeargan and Lawrence King have designed the set, Jane Greenwood the costumes and John McLain the lighting. This is the team that worked together in "Streetcar Named Desire."

IT'S NOT CHRISTMAS.....

Until "Nutcracker" Arrives. The Mouse King, the Sugarplum Fairy, the Nutcracker Prince and all the rest are a Christmas tradition in Princeton, and the holiday isn't really official until the Princeton Ballet Society and McCarter Theatre have presented their "Nutcracker" ballet.

This year, there will be three performances: Tuesday and Thursday, December 21 and 23, at 4:30 and Wednesday, December 22, at 7, all at McCarter Theatre.

The Tchaikovsky ballet will be given, as always, complete in its two acts. This year, several of the Act II divertissements have been restaged by Judith Leviton from original choreography by Lila Brunner. Also, the Snowflakes have new costumes, designed by Gloria Woodside and Ruth Pettit.

Dodie Pettit, of the Princeton Ballet Company, will alternate with guest artist Barbara Sandomato of the Pennsylvania Ballet in the role of the Sugarplum Fairy. Sugarplum's Cavalier will be danced by Bruce Wells alternating with Robert Glady. Both are guest artists.

Linda Edwards and Suzanne Van Dusen will share the part of the Dew Drop Fairy, and Dodie Pettit and Doris Jacoby will share the role of the Snow Queen.

Other principals are guest artist Felipe de Lama as the Snow King, and Roger Rouillier as Nutcracker, the Toy Soldier and the leading Candy Cane.

TO TAKE LEAVE

From Creative Theatre. It was announced at a board of trustees meeting of Creative Theatre that Patricia Cline, executive director, will be on a leave of absence to continue graduate studies at Rutgers University. The president of the board of trustees, Jacqueline Johnson, will serve as acting director for the remainder of the year.

Ms. Cline, who has served as Executive Director for the past two and one half years, is a creative movement specialist trained in modern dance and the Laban's Effort-Shape Technique. Her emphasis has been on nurturing the creative processes in theatre, rather than the finished product.

During her tenure, Ms. Cline has established Creative Theatre as an incorporated not-for-profit organization, thereby enabling it to qualify for and receive grants from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts and from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission. The professional CTU Performance Troupe was also formed during this time to bring live audience-participation theatre to schools, recreational and health care facilities throughout Central New Jersey.

Ms. Cline has also been instrumental in conceiving and developing theatre workshops led by Creative Theatre in cooperation with the New Jersey State Department of Education under the Creative Arts in Education Program. Creative Theatre staff members include Amy Brockway, summer program director and instructor; Pamela Hoffman, performance troupe director and instructor; Carol Durazo, business manager; and Joan Robinson and Francia White, instructors.

"Snow White" Is Back

It's almost 40 years since the Christmastime release of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in 1937, and to mark the season this year, McCarter is bringing the full-length Walt Disney classic to the theatre for four showings.

It will be screened twice this Saturday - 11 and 2 - in the 'Specially for Kids' series and next Tuesday at 7 and 9 in the Movies-at-McCarter series.

Single admission to the childrens' matinees will be on sale at the box office from 10 a.m. this Saturday, and also from 10 a.m. Tuesday for that evening's show.

"Snow White" has been re-released seven times by the Disney studios since it was introduced to the world in 1937, but this is the first time it has been available for showing on a college campus.

PINTER IN W. WINDSOR

At Mercer County College. Mercer College Theatre will produce "The Birthday Party," Thursday through Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College.

Several characteristics immediately identify "The Birthday Party" as a Harold Pinter play, par excellence: everyday situations which gradually take on an aura of either mystery or menace; characters whose motivations and backgrounds are ambiguous; language which seems on the surface to be extremely flat and uninteresting, yet possessing definite and almost mesmerizing rhythms. "The Birthday Party" is a macabre comedy, caught between laughter and terror.

The production is directed by William J. Flynn. Set designer is Peter Anderson; lighting is provided by Bill Burd. Cast members include Joseph Demyon, Benjamin Fults, Frank Bilancio, Tom Moffitt, Suzie Bertin and Rita Rofe.

Ticket reservations may be made by calling 586-4800, ext. 421, during business hours, and 586-4695 during evenings and the weekend. The general admission fee is $2; Senior Citizens are admitted free.

THE DON IS BACK
Wit by Moliere. Deceitful, but fascinating and attractive. Don Juan, of course.

Moliere's examination of the legendary lover will open this Thursday at Murray Theatre on the University campus under the banner of Theatre Intime. It will play for two week-ends.

Moliere focuses, in this play, on the last days of Don Juan's riotous life. One after another, the victims of Don Juan plead with him urging him, for his soul's sake, to change his ways. But even the angriest and most vengeful must admit he's a likeable enough fellow.

The modern translation is by Christopher Hampton, the British playwright. Mark Nelson is directing for Intime.

New faces will confront Intime audiences. The Don himself will be Duncan Brine, a University sophomore making his acting debut for Intime in this role. A company member of the League of Theatre Artists, Brine appeared in many of their productions this past summer in Lexington, New York. The betrayed Donna Elvira is another Intime newcomer. She is junior Betsy Fowler.

At Princeton University, "theatre" is not a recognized major, and students must design their own academic programs. Tony Santangelo, for example, who plays Don Juan's servant-clown Sganarelle, is concentrating in theatre-literature. He's acted before in several campus productions of Moliere in French. Dave O'Meara, referred to by Intime as "a theatre concentrator," in playwriting, plays Pierrot, the peasant whose fiancée becomes a target for Don Juan.

IT'S CABARET TIME
With Noel Coward. A cabaret musical featuring songs and scenes by Noel Coward will usher in the holiday season at the George Street Playhouse, 414 George Street, New Brunswick.

"Oh, Coward!" will open next Friday, December 10, and will play Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30, through January 8.

Small tables will be arranged on stage for customers who would like to sit there and sip their own beverages while the show goes on. Regular seating is also available.

JOINT CONCERT SET
By NJSO and Westminster Choir. A long-awaited musical first will take place on Wednesday evening, December 8, at McCarter Theatre when the Garden State's two prime performing organizations, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and Princeton's own Westminster Choir, join for the first time and will present Handel's choral masterpiece "Messiah."
Directed by John Nelson, the brilliant young Metropolitan Opera conductor and current Music Director of the Indianapolis Symphony who will be making his first appearance with the New Jersey Symphony, the special non-subscription one-time performance in Princeton will begin at 8:30 p.m. Also featured will be four noted soloists, including New York City Opera diva Patricia Brooks; Barbara Bowen, mezzo-soprano; John Aler, tenor; and John Cheek, bass.
Westminster Choir College this year marks its 50th anniversary of training young people for lives of service to others through music. Since its beginning, the College has supplied its internationally-acclaimed choral ensembles to virtually all the major orchestras on the East Coast. This season the Westminster Choir sings 10 performances with the New York Philharmonic, including the 2nd and 8th symphonies of Gustav Mahler conducted by James Levine; the Haydn "Lord Nelson Mass" and the Poulenc "Gloria" with the Leonard Bernstein, and the "Damnation of Faust" by Berlioz in Pierre Boulez' farewell performance.

However, according to Joseph Flummerfelt, director of choral activities at Westminster, the choir "has never before performed with its own New Jersey Symphony. I hope this will be the first of a long association."
"This will be a very stylistic presentation of the Messiah," said Dennis Shrock, who is preparing the choir. "Although we will be using about 80 voices, it will not be the 'heavy-handed' kind of singing one often associates with Messiah. We have worked for phrasing with clarity, paying particular attention to the choral trills and double dots so characteristic of music of this period. The result is fresh, bright, more dramatic, and we think, more appealing to an audience."
Subscription chairman Mrs. Walter Gips Jr. of the Princeton chapter of the NJSO League has announced that tickets are now available at the McCarter Theatre box office, 921-8700, or from the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, 213 Washington Street, Newark, phone (201)-624-8203. Special rates for groups of 10 or more may also be arranged through either the NJSO or McCarter Theatre box offices.

addition she holds master classes at Tanglewood and teaches at Yale.
Tickets at $7.25 and $5.95 are available now at the McCarter Theatre box office. Student tickets at $2.50 may be obtained the day of the concert at the box office.

In Concert with Phyllis Curtin. The Philharmonia Orchestra at Yale, conducted by Otto-Werner Mueller, will appear Monday, December 13, at 8:30 in the third concert of Series I of the Princeton University Concerts in McCarter Theatre. The orchestra will present a program of Brahms: Symphony No. 3; Hindemith: Mathis der Maler and excerpts from Berg's "Wozzeck." Phyllis Curtin, noted soprano, will be the guest soloist.
The Philharmonia is the orchestra of the Yale University graduate School of Music. In its fourth year under the baton of Conductor Otto-Werner Mueller, the 96-piece Philharmonia plays eight or nine concerts each season. The orchestra has appeared in a number of cities outside New Haven and last year performed at Kennedy Center as part of Washington's Schoenberg Centennial Concerts series.

The conductor, Otto-Werner Mueller was born in Bensheim, Germany in 1926 and has had a distinguished career as a conductor of opera, operetta, ballet and symphonic concerts, and as a composer and arranger. After a period of teaching and conducting in Canada, he was a guest professor at the Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Moscow in 1963 and in 1968 and 1970 returned to the Soviet Union as guest conductor of the Moscow, Leningrad and Riga Symphony Orchestras. Since 1973, Mr. Mueller has been Professor of Conducting at the Yale University School of Music.
Miss Curtin, has been hailed by audiences, critics and conductors as one of the most sought-after singers of the day, with conductor Erich Leinsdorf calling her "one of the all-time great singers." She has had operatic triumphs in such houses as Vienna State, Teatro Colon and the Metropolitan and has broken records for appearances in a single season with the major symphony orchestras. In

Sonatas of J.S. Bach will be performed in two concerts at All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road. The first will be Sunday, at 8, with the second to follow on Sunday, January 9. The flutist will be James Walker, with David Agler at the harpsichord and Elaine Banks, cello.

Mr. Walker, principal flute for the last three seasons of the Spoleto Festival Orchestra, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and a former member of the faculty of Texas Technical University. He is also a member of The Music Project, a group of 40 young artists performing chamber music, especially seldom heard works.

Mr. Agler has been director of music at All Saints' Church for the past five years. He is a former faculty member of the Westminster Choir College and the Pennsylvania College of Fine Arts. For the past two years, he has been the General Director of the Festival of the Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy.

Ms. Banks lives in Lambertville and is first cellist of the Trenton Symphony. The Sonatas to be performed in this first concert are C major, E Flat major and B minor. This is the second in the Trinity-All Saints' Concert Series and is open to the public without charge.

JAVANESE GROUP HERE
For Sunday Concert. The Javanese Gamelan of Wesleyan University will be presented on Sunday at 3 in Woolworth Center. The concert is under the joint sponsorship of the anthropology and music departments of Princeton University.

The Central Javanese gamelan is the most elaborately developed of the Indonesian orchestras. The standard ensemble includes several kinds of gongs, sets of instruments with metal keys resembling xylophones and marimbas, plus wooden-keyed xylophone, two-string spike fiddle, plucked zither, end-blown flute, solo female voice and unison chorus of male voices.

The group on Sunday is a "gamelan gadon," a chamber ensemble of 8 to 10 performers playing "klenengan," or informal concert music. The group is led by two prominent musicians from the court city of Surakarta (Solo). The American members of the group are selected younger artists, each with extensive experience in the performance of gamelan music at Wesleyan, on the West Coast, and/or in Java.

The gamelan now at Wesleyan was first heard in this country at the Indonesian exhibit at the 1964 New York World's Fair. It was thereafter bought by Wesleyan University, where it has been in constant use as a feature of the World Music Program. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

TWO EVENTS PLANNED
At Lawrenceville School. The glee clubs of The Lawrenceville School and The Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., will join in concert in Lawrenceville's Kirby Arts Center on Saturday, at 8. They will offer a program of traditional and popular melodies.

On the following Sunday, December 12, members of Lawrenceville's lower school, grades 8 and 9, will present three one-act plays, "An Affair of Dishonor," "Dress Reversal," and "The Great Western Melodrama." The plays are directed by faculty members John Devlin and Glenn Satty and produced by William Stanard. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

Both the musical and dramatic evenings are open to the public at no charge.

Warren Martin

TO HONOR MARTIN
At Choir College Program. Warren Martin, long associated in many capacities with Westminster Choir College, will be honored with a program of his compositions for his 60th birthday on Sunday at 5:30.

Mr. Martin was 15, Westminster's youngest undergraduate ever, when he entered the college in the fall of 1932. He graduated in 1936, and received a Masters M. Mus. in '38. For a number of years he was in Los Angeles and Chicago and served a four-year stint in the army before returning to the campus in 1950, where he has been ever since.

No one in the history of the college has served in as many capacities: as head of the theory department; music director of the college; conductor of Westminster Choir; head of the graduate department. At the same time he composed in many different media, and works for organ, orchestra, numerous choral, instrumental, and vocal works have flowed from his

On May 18th, 1976, Carnegie Hall celebrated its gala 85th anniversary with the collective musical genius of Leonard Bernstein, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Vladimir Horowitz, Yehudi Menuhin, Mstislav Rostropovich and Isaac Stern. This colossal recording includes masterpieces by Beethoven, Bach and Tchaikovsky, as well as the entirety of Schumann's "Dichterliebe." And it's available now in a deluxe, compatible stereo/quadrasonic, two-record set with the original program booklet.

naginative pen. He evaluates is work as being "mildly 20th century" — modern in a ense, but not avant-garde.

The first half of Sunday's concert will be held in Bristol Chapel. Eugene Roan, organ, George Jones, clarinet and Robert Dix Lincoln, piano; Joseph Kovacs, viola and Harriet Chase, piano, will perform works for those instruments.

At the intermission, audience and performers will go to Westminster's Playhouse to hear a second performance of Mr. Martin's latest work: "Scherzo Suite for Two Pianos," written for William and Louise Cheadle; and "Five Psalms for Double Chorus and Two Pianos," written for Westminster's 50th Anniversary and sung by the Westminster Choir, Joseph Lummerfelt, conductor, Daniel Beckwith and Hal Fisher, pianos. A reception will be held for Mr. Martin in Williamson Hall at the conclusion of the program. The public is invited; admission is free!

The Choir College has also scheduled performances of three one-act opere buffa by the Opera Workshop in the Playhouse this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 8. The performances are free and open to the public.

The three works are "La Serva Padrona," by Pergolesi, a humorous work in which a serving maid learns to become a lady; "The Telephone" by Gian Carlo Menotti, the story of a young man trying to get through to a young lady who is always on the telephone to ask her to marry him; and Mozart's

This poster by Trisha Morton, one of many young artists whose conceptions of Globolinks are on display in libraries in this area, is on view at Princeton Public Library. The musical theatre piece, "Help, Help, The Globolinks" by Gian Carlo Menotti will be performed by the Princeton Opera Association Saturday at 1:30 and 3:15 and Sunday at 1:30 at the John Witherspoon School.

"The Impresario," about an aging prima donna and a young, ambitious soubrette.

TWO CONCERTS PLANNED

By Friends of Music. Peter Baner, pianist, and the New York New Music Ensemble, will each be heard in two free concerts this week sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton. Mr. Baner will perform works by J.S. Bach, Schumann, Beethoven, Ravel, Chopin and Rachmaninoff Saturday at 8:30 in Woolworth Center, while the Ensemble will play Wednesday, December 8, at 8:30, also in Woolworth.

A graduate of Julliard School in New York, Mr. Baner has also studied abroad with the pianist Jeanne-Marie Darre. From 1970 to 1974 he was accompanist for the Oberkirchen Children's Choir and touring with them in the United States and Canada. He has appeared as guest artist at the White House and has performed as accompanist at the Kennedy Center in Washington.

The New York New Music Ensemble was founded in 1975 by six young Julliard trained musicians to offer performances of classic 20th century works and to provide public hearings of new works. The Ensemble was chosen by the Composers Guild for performance in its debut concert last April and was later invited by the International Society for Contemporary Music to participate in the International World Music Days Festival in Boston. The Ensemble will be associated with the Princeton music department this year and will serve as performing participants in the Proseminar on Techniques of Composition.

For Wednesday's concert the Ensemble will perform Arnold Shoenberg's "Pierrot Lunaire" with guest artists Sondra Stowe, sprechstimme, and Andre Emilianoff, cello. The first half of the program will be a rehearsal seminar of one or more movements of the piece, with a full performance in the second half. The seminar will be conducted by members of the faculty and graduate students of the music department.

Members of the Ensemble include Alan Cox, flute, John B. Yeh, clarinet; Gregory Fulkerson, violin; Theodore Ganger, piano and conductor, and Robert Black, piano and conductor. Mr. Black currently teaches piano at Princeton.

CHAMBER CONCERT SET

By Seminarists. The Ad Hoc Chamber Players of Princeton Theological Seminary will present a concert of classical, baroque and contemporary music on Thursday, December 9, at 8:30, in the Seminary's Miller Chapel. The public is invited to attend without charge.

The group, all first-year students in the Master of Divinity program, began to work together early in the academic year just for the fun of it, only to discover that their sessions were attracting favorable comment and an increasing number of listeners.

Barbara A. Eckman, a graduate of Princeton University, will be heard on the clarinet; Alan W. Froggatt, an alumnus of Barrington College, on violin; and Walter E. Lawn, from Trinity, at the piano. They will play works by Bach, Haydn and Poulenc.

RECITAL SATURDAY

Princetonian to Be Heard. A flute and piano recital will be given Saturday at 8:30 at the Jewish Community Center in Trenton by Jayn Rosenfeld, flutist, who lives in Princeton, and Cheryl Seltzer, pianist, of New York. The program will range from Baroque masterpieces by Bach and Handel, through the classical Schubert and the romantic Faure, to a wide variety of twentieth-century works by Claude Debussy, Paul Hindemith, Olivier Messiaen, and Aaron Copland. Ms. Rosenfeld teaches at Princeton University and Westminster Choir College, and performs with the New Jersey State Opera, the Trenton Symphony, the Millstone Trio, etc. The Jewish Center is on Lower Ferry Road in Trenton; tickets may be purchased at the door.

WOOD CARVING ON VIEW

At Squibb Gallery. During the past 25 years, the most conspicuous and notable members of the "fine art" world concerned themselves with systematically removing the familiar from their work and replacing it with a new formalism that did not conform to previous definitions of art. Familiar imagery was replaced by visual structures that depended heavily on a literary, intellectual justification for existence and whose meaning and/or value was apparent only to a small part of the viewing public.

Either as a backlash to this verbose obscurity or a celebration of a need for a different kind of artistic expression, subjective conceptual art is now stepping aside to be replaced by a new kind of hard realism in which no detail is spared. Life-sized and larger-than-life representations, rendered with photographic fidelity, have appeared in galleries and museums where the results are celebrated as an artistic testimony to the familiar and a triumph of the artist over his materials.

Although the imagery is familiar, this new form of artistic nihilism challenges our definitions of art as vigorously as the artistic product of the last decades. The new realism differs from earlier forms of representation not only in its fidelity but in the absence of any trace of the artist's hand.

The new realism has extended itself into three dimensional art forms as well as painting. An exemplary collection of this work can now be enjoyed at the Squibb Galleries.

Fumio Yoshimura is undoubtedly one of the great masters of wood carving. In the present display he has created an assemblage of objects, machines and nature forms, using wood but rendering his subjects with such fidelity and technical perfection that although they are made of wood they begin to embody all the surface characteristics of the subjects original materials. A perfectly-rendered motorcycle, an electric fan and other machines express all of the detail and proportion that are to be found in life. The absence of color actually heightens the sense of reality by intensifying the effects of detail, shadow and form.

Sunflowers, a tomato plant with all its natural tracery, daffodils and other plant life are included in this impressive collection. Here, again, Yoshimura has created sculpture that is so lifelike that one might assume that the subject was a forgery and that the true reality might be found in the artist's representation.

The sculpture is accompanied by a collection of drawings. Although the artist is, as usual, faithful to his models, the drawings embody a different reality in which both the artist and his poetry are present making a statement that goes beyond the visual.

At University Art Museum. This dramatic change in taste has several causes, one of which is the lack of thorough scholarly study of his art. His drawings, an important and neglected aspect of his work, reveal a dedicated and versatile draftsman who used sketches in several media to develop his pictorial ideas. Nearly three-quarters of Murillo's known drawings, styles of the sixties.

Works by Jackson Pollock, Rothko and Kline trace abstract expressionism. New imagery is revealed through several explorations of the paintbrush and other tools by Jim Dine, which culminate in a combination of a great deal of paint and the actual thing. Work by Jasper Johns and Tom Wesselman is also included.

At Gallery 100. Paintings by Audrey Salkind and Eileen Shabbender are featured in the current Gallery 100 show. Although both artists appear to be concentrating on creating harmonies in color, paint and form, their direction and methods are sufficiently different to create two distinctive collections.

Shabbender has focused on the landscape as a basis for a design and color statement. Specifically, she has centered on the green harmonies of fields and flowers developing a limited palette to express the subtle variations of her subject. Surface is carefully considered, complementing flat color areas with impasto technique and textural effects. The restricted palette and flowing constructions of the paintings combine to capture the horizontal rhythms and color blends.

Salkind creates a contrasting dynamic by developing vigorous color relationships and using her paint to create a sense of energetic movement. She is equally comfortable with her materials whether a relating design and color statement or developing interpretive realism. Sporting and boating scenes are vigorous and well executed studies in which the essence of the subject is well integrated into carefully-constructed compositions employing pleasing color relationships. Line and volume are sensitively considered with spatial contrasts functioning in combinations with a carefully-chosen palette.

At Grovers Mill Graphics. "Ceglia in Italia" is a visual record of Vincent Ceglia's summer journey. Wash studies of mountains and villages are executed in this artist's familiar fluid manner.

A pleasing palette is employed for washes which blend and flow, often with dramatic results. Ceglia's technique, however, has begun to dominate his considerable skill with line and form and in many of the paintings washes away his ability to construct interesting, carefully-developed works. What appeared as a consistency of style risks becoming repetitive, and is not equal to the work in which Ceglia's fine technique is combined with fresh use of space, some conscious design input and a reassurance that this artist's product is continuing to develop and grow.

EXHIBIT SCHEDULED

On 17th Century Spanish Art. The Art Museum of Princeton University will present the exhibition "Murillo and His Drawings" from December 12, through January 30. Seventy drawings by the 17th century Spanish artist Bartolome Esteban Murillo will be on view.

Until the turn of this century, the art of Murillo was highly appreciated and valued. Since then, he has usually been considered an over-sentimental devotional painter of limited talent and appeal.

This dramatic change in taste has several causes, one of which is the lack of thorough scholarly study of his art. His drawings, an important and neglected aspect of his work, reveal a dedicated and versatile draftsman who used sketches in several media to develop his pictorial ideas. Nearly three-quarters of Murillo's known drawings, styles of the sixties.

BOSTON HARBOUR TEA

On December 16, 1773 a group of American patriots boarded three English ships in Boston Harbour and threw the tea aboard into the water, in protest against the duty imposed on tea by the Government of King George III. Three months later, on March 7, 1774, at a second Boston Tea Party, 16 chests of tea from Davison Newman & Co. were also dumped in the Harbour. This was the prelude to the American War of Independence. No duty is payable now.

The Princeton Area League of Women Voters will hold its holiday social on Wednesday, December 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Mayers, 41 Adams Drive. The League invites its membership and spouses to join them for refreshments and a social evening at 8. For more information and/or directions, please call Ellen Kemp at 921-3528.

The Princeton Recorder Society meeting on Tuesday at 8 at All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road will feature Christmas music. Some of the members will give a concert, including works by Praetorius, Eccard, Albert, Gesius and Poser, and there will be small group playing for everyone afterwards. Recorder players of all levels of ability are welcome.

The annual Christmas Auction and Bake Sale of the Dogwood Garden Club will be held Thursday, December 9, in the home of Mrs. Michael Jensen, 18 Riverside Drive West. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. William Alston, Mrs. Joseph Pierson, Mrs. Richard Olsson and Mrs. Frederick Wightman Jr. Mrs. Dudley Clark will serve as auctioneer.

All articles to be auctioned have been made by the members and all proceeds will be used in cooperation with the Mercer County Park Commission to continue the restoration and maintenance of the memorial garden around the home of Mrs. Oswald Veblen in Herrontown Woods. In honor of the Bicentennial the club recently gave 25 dogwood trees to the Princeton Battlefield Preservation Society to be planted on the grounds.

Col Fulvio J. Cataldo, U.S. Army, a career intelligence officer, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Lawrenceville Men's Breakfast Club Sunday at 8:15 in the dining room of the Lawrenceville School. His topic will be "Overview of the World-Wide Threat of Aggression." Awarded the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Vietnam, he is an intelligence officer in Berlin and Washington where he specializes in Soviet Warsaw Pact Operations.

The Rev. L. Floyd Fletcher, pastor of the Slackwood Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation. The meeting is open to all, since the purpose of the Club is to encourage fellowship and to stimulate spiritual and intellectual development through a program of speakers. Reservations at $2.50 per person may be made by Friday by calling 896-0244 or 896-1212.

Art in Princeton

which number 100, will be at Princeton. Never before in this country have so many drawings by this master been exhibited.

Most of his drawings are in European collections, and negotiations for loans have taken over a year. The Hamburger Kunsthalle, the British Museum and the Louvre are the major institutional lenders.

Loans are also coming from the Biblioteca Nacional in Madrid, the Albertina in Vienna, the Courtauld Institute Galleries in London, and New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art and Pierpont Morgan Library, among others. Individual collectors in the Netherlands, Munich, London, Paris, New York, and Atlanta are lending works for this important exhibition.

The exhibition has been organized by Dr. Jonathan Drown, director of the Institute of Fine Arts, New York University, and previously an associate professor at Princeton. A scholarly monograph on Murillo and his drawings by Professor Brown will be published by the museum to coincide with the opening of the exhibition.

All of the known drawings are fully catalogued and illustrated; over one-third of them have not previously been studied or published. Comparative illustrations show works by followers of Murillo as well as many of his oil paintings. "Murillo and His Drawings," which responds to the need for monographic studies of the major Spanish Baroque draftsmen, will be distributed by Princeton University Press.

The museum will hold a symposium on Spanish Baroque Drawings on Sunday, December 12, at 3 in McCormick 101 in conjunction with the exhibition.

Three well-known scholars in the field of Spanish art will speak. Prof. Emeritus Harold E. Wethey of the University of Michigan will discuss "Alonso Cano: An Early Baroque Draftsman." Prof. Jonathan Brown of the Institute of Fine Arts at New York University and director of the exhibition "Murillo and His Drawings" will present a paper on "Murillo's Preparatory Drawings and Oil Sketches," the title of the talk of Dr. Priscilla E. Muller of the Hispanic Society of America will be "Problems of Repetition among Andalusian Baroque Drawings."

The public is invited. The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4; Sundays from 1 to 5. It is closed Mondays and major holidays.

PAA PLANS WORKSHOP On Watercolors. On Thursday, December 9th,

Arthur Barbour, will conduct a watercolor demonstration and workshop for Princeton Art Association members and friends. Mr. Barbour will give a demonstration in the morning and, following the demonstration, there will be workshop time in which all will participate.

A graduate of Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts and recipient of more than 90 awards for his work, Mr. Barbour has recently published two books on watercolor painting. He has exhibited widely at, among others, the National Academy of Design, American Watercolor Society and Allied Artists of America. He is currently Director of the American Watercolor Society.

The demonstration-workshop will run from 9:30-12:30, with a lunch break from 12:30 to 1:30. The afternoon session will run from 1:30 to 4:30. Participants should bring their lunch; the PAA will provide beverages.

Space in the workshop is limited; to insure a reservation call the Association, 609-921-9173, for further information and/or reservations as soon as possible.

PAINTINGS ON VIEW

By Senior Artist. Paintings by Abraham Aronovic, a retired pharmacist, are on exhibition at the New Jersey National Bank, 194 Nassau Street.

Mr. Aronovic, who is 87, took up painting three years ago under the guidance of his daughter-in-law, Gilda Aronovic of 351 Franklin Avenue. He paints plants and flowers using bright colors and is on the way to becoming a noteworthy artist in his new career.

PEOPLE In The News

S. Barksdale Penick IV, son of Dr. and Mrs. Penick of Elm Lane has been elected an alternate on the freshman council at Dartmouth College. A 1976 graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., he was elected by freshman residents of his dormitory to the council which administers the affairs of the freshman class.

Three area residents have recently pledged sororities at Denison University in Granville, Ohio. Jane E. Bolster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bolster of 124 Parkside Drive, pledged Delta Delta, while Cary Blattner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Blattner, 276 Shadybrook Lane, and Kathy R. Schowalter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schowalter, 106 Crestview Drive, both pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Harleigh Kemmerer of 4 College Road was elected vice-president of the New Jersey Federation of Shade Tree Commissions at its annual meeting in Cherry Hill recently. Mr. Kemmerer is manager of grounds maintenance and landscape architect for the physical plant department of Princeton University. He is also chairman of the Princeton Borough Shade Tree Commission and has devoted many years to horticulture and arboriculture.

Two Princeton residents, W.C. Combs MD of 18 Winfield Road and L.F. Winbiger of 44 Fackler Road, are eligible to win $1,000 and a free trip to Scotland as a result of scoring holes-in-one at Bedens Brook Club. Their aces qualified them for the Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes sponsored by the Drambuie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland. The winner of the 15th annual competition will be announced early next year.

Cathy Blydenburgh, 11-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blydenburgh of Lawrenceville, won a first-place ribbon in Dressage and a third place overall in the junior novice division of the Wit's End Horse Trial held in Jackson.

Miss Blydenburgh rode "Merlin," owned by the Princeton Riding Center, where she has been riding and receiving instruction for four years. She has been competing in numerous shows and at the Riding Center and has won 30 ribbons and trophies.

Cathy is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence (Skip) Ferrara of Princeton, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Blydenburgh, formerly of Princeton.

Horton Davies of 120 McCosh Circle is the co-compiler of a book of "Prayers and Other Resources for Public Worship" published by Abingdon Press in Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Davies is a graduate of Edinburgh University in Scotland and of Oxford University, England, where he was head of the department of church history, Regent's Park and Mansfield Colleges. He is currently Henry W. Putnam professor of the History of Christianity at Princeton University.

The book includes a wide variety of prayers grouped according to use -- prayers of invocation and of confession, prayers for illumination and for the church year, offertory prayers, general prayers and prayers for special occasions. As noted in the introduction, the co-compilers have attempted to make their selections biblical, reverent in spirit and expression, simple, honest and contemporary.

Gordon A. Herr of 7 Fairfield Road, Kingston, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. He joined the Marine Corps in January, 1976.

Dr. Gerald Gelson, professor of history and philosophy of science at Princeton University, will give the first talk this weekend in a conference on "Two Hundred Years of American Medicine" sponsored by the history departments of the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University and funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. He will speak on "Basic Science in Medicine."

Denis C. Frelinghuysen, son of Mrs. Thomas Frelinghuysen of 170 Prospect Avenue, started for the third year on the Northwood School varsity soccer team this fall in Lake Placid, N.Y., as a forward. Now a senior, he entered Northwood in 1973 as a freshman, a year after his brother, Kinney, graduated.

Second Lieutenant Thomas C. Skillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Skillman of Route 106, Belle Mead, has been awarded silver wings at Reese AFB, Tex., following graduation from U.S. Air Force Pilot training. He has been assigned to Robins AFB, Ga., for flying duty on the B-52 Stratofortress. He is a 1971 graduate of Somerville High School and received his B.S. degree and commission in 1975 upon graduation from the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Three Princeton area residents, Frank P. Reiche, Lewis B. Thurston, III and Herbert E. Alexander, will participate this week in the third annual conference on "The Public Official and the Public Trust" in San Francisco.

Mr. Reiche, Princeton attorney with the firm of Smith, Stratton, Wise and Heher and Chairman of the New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission since its inception in 1973, will speak on "The Role of the Commissioner." Mr. Thurston, of Lawrenceville, Executive Director of the New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission, will be the moderator of the session concerning "Auditing and Investigative Procedures." Dr. Alexander, Director of the Citizens Research Foundation of Princeton and Consultant to the New Jersey Commission, will address the group at the luncheon meeting on Thursday.

David Faus, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Faus of 30 Armour Road, was recently elected to serve as a representative on the freshman council at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

Dr. Jack R. Norton of 3-04 Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro, assistant professor of chemistry at Princeton University, is one of 15 Dreyfus-Teacher Scholars for 1976. The awards, which carry a $35,000 stipend, are presented annually by the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation to outstanding young faculty members who combine interest and demonstrated ability in education and research in the fields of chemistry, biochemistry and chemical engineering.

Dr. Norton joined the department in 1973 and has taught courses in both organic and inorganic chemistry as well as in diversified subjects such as group theory, pulsed nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy techniques and organometallic chemistry. His research deals with catalysis, a phenomenon in which a relatively small amount of substance increases the rate of a chemical reaction without itself being used up.

John J. Smith of 40 Bertrand Drive has been named controller at Western Pacific Industries as part of the company's plan to consolidate its corporate offices with those of Veeder Industries, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary, in new offices in New York City. Previously corporate functions were handled in San Francisco through Western Pacific Railroad Company, also a wholly owned subsidiary.

Mr. Smith, an honors graduate of Princeton University, joined Western Pacific Industries in early October. He recently served as vice president-finance of Inter Royal Corp. and before that was vice president finance and administration of the Business Machines Group of the Singer Company.

Julie Erlich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Erlich of 41 Littlebrook Road, and Toni Pashko Hammertund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney S. Pashko of 75 Rollingmead, recently received bachelor's degrees at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Topics of the Town

down the hall to telephone right at 3, if there was no contract. Well, the hour approached closer and closer. I got up to stretch my legs, and I noticed that the key was in the door.

"Well, I took that key, locked the door and threw it out the window—23 stories down! He couldn't get out to make the phone call, and by 4 o'clock, we had our contract. I confessed, after about half an hour, and they were pretty hot at first, but afterwards we were all laughing.

"Oh, yes—we really had to pound on that door, so a janitor would hear us and come and let us out."

Product Must Be Fresh. On another occasion, with Lorillard, Mr. Shays was negotiating with three unions in joint talks for all the company's plants in the south—7,000 employees and a three-year contract.

"The union wanted more. 'I'll have to go to New York to get the authority,' I told them, so I did, and talked to the board of directors. In the cigarette business, to keep the product fresh, you have only a three-weeks inventory. The company could take a strike up to three weeks, but if they lost shelf space in a market, they could be knocked out, so they feel very skittish about work stoppages.

"The directors asked the cost, and I told them $1,300,000 and they authorized me to give in.

"I was furious! I was damned if I was going to give in, so back in Louisville, I dotted all the i's and crossed the t's, and asked for a supper break...but finally I couldn't stall any longer. If you've done something all your life, you FEEL when you're right, and I refused to give in.

"My opposite number, across the table, took it with a smile. 'We didn't think we'd get it,' he said. But did I catch hell from the company! They really bailed me out. I resigned six months later...."

"You often find that union leadership doesn't want to be there, at the table, but some hat-head agitating groups have put them in a tough spot. And you'll find management backing a lower-level management decision it may not really like. There is face-saving, and one side will say, 'well, we ALMOST won.'"

In Outdoor Advertising. After Lorillard, Mr. Shays climbed back into his own plane, and for three years flew clients of his outdoor advertising firm, so they could see what sites they might like. He was also part-owner of a boat yard on Long Island. He doesn't fly any more — gave it up last year — but his two sons are flyers, one for the Coast Guard in Florida.

"It's a good excuse to go to Florida and see the grandkids!" he grins.

A Princeton resident for 26 years, Mr. Shays says he's travelled so much he doesn't know the town as well as he knows all the rest of the country. The part of town he may know best is the Springdale Golf Course. A close friend is former Township mayor William L. Wilson, whom Mr. Shays knew back in Republic Aviation days.

Travel is still part of Philip Shays' life. He is a member of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and is often sent as an arbitrator to Pennsylvania.

Patience Essential. The two roles are quite different, he observes. A negotiator is in Pyracantha (Firethorn), there fighting. An arbitrator, called in when union and company can't agree, or a dispute has gone the grievance route and is ready for submission to permanent

Happy Birthday to Me

Philip Shays thinks he may have been the one to invent the practice of giving employees their birthday as a day off.

"You have a list of holidays—Christmas, New Year's, and so on—when everybody has a holiday. What more can you do!

"Well, if you give one man his birthday, you don't have to shut down the plant. You have, maybe, half a dozen men and women off that day, celebrating birthdays, and it's part of the normal absentee rate. Shutting down a plant is a costly undertaking, and you've got to think of profitability. It's a defensive measure by management, to say 'Happy Birthday!'" arbitration, has to "keep it tranquil...I have to get the facts, without emotion."

He served four times in this capacity this year, and seven or eight times last year. Hearings may take a day or two. Then he returns to his Wheatshaf Lane home, thinks it all through, and renders his decision within 30 days.

In Princeton Township's negotiations, he has the role of advisor, sitting in without official status. Negotiations are handled by Administrator Joseph R. Nini and Police Chief Frederick Porter. Police Commissioner Josie Hall is on the Township team also. Howard G. Golden, of Cascone, Hoffing and Golden, is the PBA lawyer.

Township negotiations are separate from PBA's with the Borough, and Mr. Shays says the Borough hasn't yet decided whether to use his services.

ALUMINUM VAN HERE

On Fridays. The Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company's mobile unit will be parked at Princeton Shopping Center, behind the Acme, every Friday morning except December 24, from 10 to 11.

Reynolds will pay 15 cents a pound cash for all-aluminum beverage cans, clean household aluminum products and scrap aluminum items used around the home, such as siding, storm windows and door frames, foil, pots and pans, and tubing.

According to James Buckley, district recycling manager, more and more New Jerseyites are recycling their used aluminum. The money paid to recyclers by Reynolds alone amounted to $13 million nationwide last year, Mr. Buckley said.

FLOWER SHOW PLANNED

With Christmas Theme. The Lawrenceville Garden Club will present a miniature standard Christmas flower show, "Christmas at Home," on Saturday from 1 to 8 at the Lavino Field House lounge on the Lawrenceville School campus. The public is invited to participate.

The schedule will be divided into artistic classes and horticulture. Class 1, "Warmth Amid the Cold of Winter," is for a Christmas mantle arrangement and is open to the public. Consultant for this class is Mrs. William Dwyer, 896-1132.

All the horticulture classes are open to the public. They are Ilex (branch not less than 12" or more than 26") Opaca (American Holly), Cornuta (Chinese Holly), Crenata (Japanese Holly), any other to Ilex;

Also, Broadleaf Evergreen (Branch not less than 12" or more than 26") Berberis (Barberry), Buxus (Boxwood), Pyracantha (Firethorn), there fighting. An arbitrator, Virburnum Rhythedophyllum called in when union and company can't agree, or a dispute has gone the grievance route and is ready for submission to permanent and any other. Collection of not less than five nor more than eight;

Also, Narrowleaf Evergreen (Branch not less than 12" or more than 26") Tsuga, (Hemlock), Pinus (Pine), Picea (Spruce), Abies (Fir), Taxus (Yew), Juniperous (Juniper), Thuja (Arbutus), Chamaecyparis (False Cypress), Cedrus (true Cedar), any other, collection of not less than five or more than eight.

Horticulture entries will be received only on Friday, from 7 to 9 at the Field House lounge, and exhibits must be removed by 8:15 Saturday. An exhibitor may show only one entry in each class but may enter all classes. Correct name of the specimen must be submitted and it must be grown by the exhibitor and in possession for at least three months.

The committee working on the show are Mrs. E.K. Snedeker, Jr., Mrs. G. Bissland Moore, Mrs. John Soeller, Mrs. John Bacon, Mrs. John Magee, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. George Meili, Mrs. Robert R. Green, Mrs. John Kramer, Mrs. Robert J. Jones, Mrs. William Dwyer, Mrs. Alex Rogers, and Mrs. Hendrik VanOss. Mrs. John B. Strassenburgh is chairman and Mrs. John W. Powner is co-chairman of the show. A sale of wreaths and greens for Christmas will be held.

PS WHERE PEOPLE

In the old days, the man who saved money was called a miser ...today he's wiser!

Remember Mr. Scrooge; his thrifty ways made him very independent — but not very popular.

Now-a-days, economizing for the purpose of being independent is one of the soundest indications of character and good judgment. It is what we save rather than what we earn that insures a successful future.

At Princeton Savings, we'll help you find your way to save. We won't make you rich overnight, but with a variety of savings plans to choose from, we can help to make you secure, comfortable and content.

Come into Princeton Savings, start on your way becoming totally independent. We'll be glad to help.

KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

It's easy to guess that George Blanda scored more points than anyone else in the history of the National Football League -- but who ranks 2nd and 3rd on the all-time point-scoring list? ... One of them is still active in the NFL today ... The man who ranks 2nd behind Blanda for most points ever is Lou Groza and the man who has scored the 3rd most points in history is Fred Cox, who's still active with the Minnesota Vikings.

Since football coaches always stress that teams should cut down mistakes and turnovers, here's an amazing record ... The Cleveland Browns fumbled only 8 times ALL SEASON in 1959 ... Some teams fumble more than that in 2 or 3 games -- but, even with that all-time record for fewest fumbles, the Browns did not finish first that year.

Here's a tough football question ... One of the most famous coaches today is Bear Bryant of Alabama -- but the question is: Can you name the man who was the Alabama coach before Bryant? ... You have to be a pretty good fan to remember this ... Answer is J.B. (Ears) Whitworth, who coached Alabama from 1955 through 1957 ... Bryant took over in 1958.

Tiger Quintet Heads for Tough Battle at Maryland Saturday After Revealing High-Scoring Potential in Rout of Colgate

The first of three extremely difficult road games on Princeton's pre-Christmas basketball schedule is set for Saturday night at College Park, Md. The University of Maryland, which has achieved 20 or more victories in each of the last five seasons, and was 11th ranked nationally in pre-season polls, will be the Tigers' opponent in an 8 p.m. contest.

Two factors will be working against an upset for the young Princetonians, who have Captain Bob Slaughter as the lone senior on their roster. Any tendency to take an Ivy team lightly on the part of Coach Lefty Briesell's Terrapins will be banished by recollection of what Pete Carril's operatives did last year, when they upended nationally-ranked Alabama in the first round of the Maryland tournament and then lost by only four points (63-59) to the confident Terps on their own court. If that were not enough to bring Maryland out fighting, the home team will be smarting from the one-point overtime loss that Notre Dame inflicted on it last Saturday.

Driesell's top point-producer is Steve Sheppard, a 6-6 forward, who averaged 17.6 points last season. Larry Gibson, the 6-10 center to whom Bob Roma will give away two inches, and guard Brad Davis were also in double figures. The Terps are the second team from that state on Princeton's schedule this week. Navy, which opened its season with a seven-point victory over Dartmouth, was scheduled to play in Jadwin Gym this Wednesday night at 8.

Solid Start. While it was apparent early on that Colgate was outmatched in Princeton's first game of the season Saturday, the Tigers nonetheless did enough things well that it is already apparent they will make a strong defense of their Ivy title and beat their share of good independent teams. The 95-48 trouncing of the Red Raiders (13-11 last winter and returning nine of ten lettermen) revealed an offensive punch Carril's teams have not always had. The point-total was Princeton's highest in four years and the point spread was its greatest since a demolishing of Dartmouth at Hanover by 116-42 a decade ago.

While it must be underscored that Colgate did not furnish a major share of opposition, the somewhat astonishing part of the evening was the fact that the Tigers did not tail off in efficiency as the reserves took over in the one-sided contest. With the five starters in for most of the opening half, they shot 50 percent from the floor; as Carril cleared his bench--

Frank Sowinski
In 28 Minutes, 20 Points

nine subs the last made it into the game with five minutes left--they shot 60 percent for the final half.

All 14 players scored, and one of them, reserve center Tom Young, made it into double figures with 10. At 6-11, he is the tallest player in 75 years of Princeton basketball, and while he has much to learn in his sophomore year, there is also much promise.

From the Outside. What may be the eventual hallmark of this Princeton team is its ability to hit from outside--from the corners and in the middle, from six to ten feet beyond the foul circle. Zones, it would seem--and many teams use them to keep top players out of foul trouble--will be quite vulnerable against this band of sharpshooters.

Take, for example, Frank Sowinski, the ice-cool 6-5 junior starting his second year at forward. He was 8-for-11 on field goals--one of them a layup following a steal, the other seven jumpers ranging as far out as 20 feet. He added 4 of 5 from the line, and his 20 points in the 28 minutes allotted to him were two more than the leading two Colgate scorers made together in 51 minutes of combined playing time.

The Tigers' big men, Roma and Young, both showed to advantage, Roma in particular displaying a brand of aggressiveness that was not always apparent in his freshman season. He lead both teams in rebounds with seven and hit on four of eight field goal attempts.

Young was 3-for-5 from the floor and a welcome 4-for-5 at the line--some big men have a tendency to be sloppy on foul shots. He grabbed six rebounds in the ten minutes he played and on one occasion, blocked the same opponent's shots twice in succession and wound up grabbing the loose ball. If he develops to the point where Carril can move Roma to a forward slot, should Sowinski or Slaughter get into foul trouble, Princeton's new-found front-line height would be intriguing to watch.

With 10 minutes gone in the opening half, the visitors trailed by only five (19-14) but they froze there while Princeton ran off nine straight to double their total at 28-14, and the home team then scored at a 2-for-1 ratio the rest of the evening. It was 40-20 at the intermission, 64-29 around the middle of the final period and the reserves kept the pot boiling until the final buzzer.

This is, of course, no time for euphoria--which will not really be a part of the Jadwin Gym atmosphere unless the Tigers can dominate a Penn quintet that was nationally ranked on a basis of pre-season potential. But the signs of a higher-scoring offense than Princeton has fielded in some seasons, supported by the topflight brand of defense Carril-coached teams invariably display, spell another bright season for Princeton basketball.

promise," continued Trotman. "Right now, I almost wish I was coaching the freshmen and jayvees. There's just so much talent around and available, it's a joy to coach. In past years, we were always fighting, scrounging and scrapping to win."

It's going to be difficult, said Trotman, to keep this sudden reservoir of young talent off the team. "The seniors are going to have to work. If you have kids of equal ability, you're not going to take the seniors."

"I have 30 kids who want to be basketball players. How are you going to cut that down? If we don't win this year, it won't be because of the kids; it will be because of the coaching."

In addition to the abundance of young talent, there is another unusual aspect about this year's squad. Height! "We've always been small, small, small," said Trotman.

Long Wait Over. "This year we've got bigger kids. I've waited 20 years for big kids. I'm not talking about 6-5 and 6-6 players but we are going to be a big squad."

The height will come from 6-5 Jean-Paul Maman, a senior, who sat out last year to concentrate on his studies after playing as a sophomore. Maman was a 220-lb. tackle on the football team.

Another new face on the team is 6-3, 215-lb. Todd Blackledge, sophomore quarterback on the football team, who Trotman said, "seems to know his way around the basketball court. He's not afraid."

They will be joined by 6-3 veteran Junior Oldham, who as a junior last year, led the team in scoring with 425 points and a 16.8 average. Oldham is the key to what success PHS will have this year.

"He's working hard. He's quicker, he's dunking the ball better and he's rebounding much better. He's jumping out of the building.

LEADING SCORER: Junior Oldham, who topped the PHS basketball team in scoring last year with 425 points, is the lone starter back but he will get support from one of the biggest Little Tiger squads in years.

"I'm hopeful he has a good year," said Trotman. He's got all kinds of possibilities for a scholarship. He's a terrific player."

A third and more subtle difference than the infusion of talent and height, reported by Trotman, is a new spirit of harmony.

"The kids really enjoy playing basketball. There's no more black-white hostility. There's more togetherness. They stay around after practice and sit around and talk and laugh." In Trotman's view, this could be the most important change of all.

Fuschini Returns. Returning from last year's squad, which finished with a fine 15-9 record but which again failed to get past its first opponent in the annual NJSIAA tournament, are, in addition to Oldham, guard Mike Fuschini and forwards Tommy Moore and Ken Bullock.

Both Fuschini and Moore have had limited varsity experience. Bullock has had more, and Trotman reported that he is much quicker this year. "He'll get his eight to 10 points a game for us."

Others up from the jayvee team include senior Bernie Noble, who Trotman said, "is looking good so far," senior Chris Djourp, "who will help us a lot," John Sapoch, a fine defensive player, "who will probably play quite a bit this year," Kim Beasley, and junior Kevin Ali, "who will play somewhere."

Also, senior Scott Trani, younger brother of Hun School's all-time scorer, Tony Trani, who, Trotman commented, needs only to develop confidence in himself to become an even better player than he is; and 6-1 sophomore Bob Flippin.

Flippin, said Trotman, "is a lot quicker than we thought originally in the early going. The kid's a shooter." Unfortunately, Flippin will not be able to help the team until he can shed a cast from a football injury - probably in January.

Trotman's job of trying to select the best talent will be somewhat easier after two scrimmages, one against New Brunswick Saturday and another against East Brunswick here Tuesday.

Still Man-To-Man. One thing that won't change this year will be the style of play. "We'll be man to man again -- definitely," confirmed Trotman.

"You can work certain plays against a zone," he explained, "but if you're man-to-man, if you're aggressive man-to-man, you can change the style of your opponent, make them do something different -- unless they're an exceptional team."

Trotman added that, hopefully, PHS with its newfound size and bulk will be able to wear some teams down. "It will be an advantage for us with our bulk inside."

As long as he can keep two or three of his big men on the court and then be able to bring in some quick, fresh players near the end, Trotman feels the Little Tigers will be competitive.

Something To Shoot For. With the advent of the Colonial Valley Conference in all sports -- PHS shared the first league football crown this fall with Notre Dame -- Trotman agreed that there is more to Cerebral palsy is a condition in which a person is not able to control muscles voluntarily because of damage to the central nervous system. The condition is not inherited and is not transmitted from person to person. The cause is damage to the motor areas of the brain as a result of such factors as birth injury, RH incompatibility between mother and child, and disease conditions such as German measles during the first third of pregnancy. ### Winning Isn't Everything...

And while those who have seen the fiery Trotman often clash with officials on the court may find it difficult to believe, winning for him isn't the only thing.

Trotman has not had a losing season in his three years. He admits that he hopes he doesn't ever have one. But he adds: "While I think winning is important, it's more important to develop a sense of responsibility."

A guidance counselor at PHS, he says that he looks at his players not from the point of view as winners or losers but that they grow up to be men.

"You don't realize the impact you have on them until you see them graduate. That's when I feel good: when you see kids go on to college and succeed, even though you may have had them only a small part of the time. I don't think enough teachers look at their roles in that light."

strive for this year. "There's an actual title to shoot for and we don't have to beat the Trentons and the Hamiltons to win it."

As for Princeton's chances in the conference, Trotman said with tongue in cheek that PHS "was scared to death" of Hopewell Valley, the preseason choice as the team to beat.

"We'll be in there," vowed Trotman. "We won't lie down for them." He predicted that his team will be in "some kind of decent shape." It won't be any more iron-man five or six like it has been," he said.

"I'm looking forward to it, I really am," he said of the approaching season. "It's something to be excited about."

He said that one could sense a certain feeling about the team. "I feel that we're going to do something big this year. It's just a matter of when."

Five-Day Figure Skating Championships Will Be Staged in Baker Rink Next Week

The 1977 South Atlantic Figure Skating Championships will be held at Baker Rink, Princeton University, Wednesday, December 8, through Sunday, December 12. More than 200 skaters have already registered for this necessary first step towards the U.S. Figure Skating Championships and clubs from as far south as Georgia will be represented.

The championships are sanctioned by the U.S. Figure Skating Association and are being sponsored by the Princeton Figure Skating Club. The co-chairmen for the event are James Crosson and Mrs. William A. Hills. General admission tickets will be available at the door. Prices are $3 for evenings and $2 for daytime events; children under 12 will be charged $1.50 for all sessions. An all-events ticket at $12 is good for all nine sessions.

Further schedule and ticket information is available from the Skating Club secretary, Mrs. John Lee, at 921-7449; from the ticket chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot R. Kurtz, (201) 257-3090; or from club members.

The Skating Club is an organization of more than 400 families and individuals in the Princeton area who are involved in ice skating at all levels. Clinics are held for beginners, classes are available for more advanced skaters (including adults) and individual instruction is provided by qualified professionals. The Club has family skating times for the casual skater's enjoyment and also offers hockey sessions.

guard Bob Innocenzi. Up from the jayvee team are senior Bob Kwiatkowski and junior Pete Black. Kwiatkowski, like Payton and Dillione, is 6-4, which would give the Red and Black a lot of height.

For Princeton Hockey Team. Vermont, which, like Princeton, could not reach the break-even point last year in Division I Eastern Conference play, will face the Tiger hockey team Saturday at 3 in Baker Rink. The contest had originally been scheduled for a 7:30 start but will be staged as a matinee performance.

The New England university, of which Tiger coach Jack Semler is a graduate, won the only meeting between the two teams two years ago. Its record last year in Division I was 9-13-0, compared to 6-16-1 for the Tigers, who will do well to win this weekend.

The Orange and Black was scheduled to play Colgate Wednesday night at Hamilton, N.Y., and goes to Philadelphia next Tuesday for an Ivy League game with Penn. Last winter, Princeton defeated Colgate here, 5-3, and bested Penn twice by four-goal margins, 6-2 and 5-1.

A year ago in Baker Rink, Dartmouth scored eight goals, winning in a wild over-time contest, 8-7. Last Saturday at Hanover, the Green got 8 more, but Princeton managed only 1, underscoring the defensive problems that continue to plague the Orange and Black.

The home forces, considered a prime contender for the Ivy title that Brown now holds, scored the first three. John Van Sieten then prevented the losers from being shut out when he tallied while his team was short-handed. Dartmouth added two more in the second round and another three in the third for total domination of the contest.

It wasn't too many seasons ago when Hun played as few as two games in December.

From a team that won 19 games last year—it lost nine—but failed in the season-end playoffs, Hun coach Dave Leete welcomes back 6-4 center Ron Payton and guard John Brady who will co-captain this year's team. Another starter returning is 6-4 forward Tom Dillione.

Ted Schiller, who was ignored by the seven other Ivy League coaches in selections for their all-star team, was named as a defensive lineman on the first team chosen by 20 coaches in Division I of the Eastern College Athletic Conference. None of the linemen named All-Ivy on the defensive unit were accorded similar recognition.

A Lawrenceville resident was chosen on the All-East team as a receiver. He is Mark Twitty, an end on Rutgers' undefeated eleven.

have by the time the season starts," he said.

Payton Is Standout. Pre-eminent on the Hun squad, of course, is Payton. As a sophomore last year, Payton averaged 20 points a game. He already has passed the 1,000 mark and barring injury will become Hun's all-time scorer this winter.

That honor is presently held by Princeton's Tony Trani, who amassed 1,301 points as a standout guard and playmaker for Hun. After a year's post-graduate study at Lawrenceville, where he excelled for the Larries on the court, Trani was accepted at Princeton University where he hopes to continue his career under Pete Carril.

Payton's one liability was a tendency to tire last year. This year, Leete reports that the Trenton resident has grown stronger and bigger. "He'll be our best rebounder," Leete predicted.

The outlook for Hun is bright. Leete sees the season coming down to a battle between Hun and its nearby rival, Pennington School, for league honors. Pennington has been strengthened by the transfer of Tim Zimpleman, a member of last year's powerful Trenton High School team.

WINTER PROGRAM SET
By Soccer Club. An indoor winter program for January and February is being planned by the Princeton Soccer Club.

A number of Princeton University players, including All-Ivy stars Frank Sharry and Paul Milone, will serve as instructors. Those interested in participating should call the Club at 924-5613 or 921-1024.

Although the regular fall season ended Thanksgiving, a team of players with birthdates in 1965, directed by Ed Metcalf, will play a similar team from the Hopewell Valley League on Saturday. Earlier, a team of Princeton Club players with birthdays in 1964 took part in a Lawrence Thanksgiving Tournament. It was coached by Frank Dyckman.

13 PLAYERS HONORED
Named to All-Star Teams. Princeton High School lineman Jon Miller has been named to the first Colonial Valley All-Conference Soccer Team. He is a junior.

Named to the second team from PHS were backs Dave Wilson, a junior, and

Top 4 Teams Dominate All-Ivy Selections; Princeton Shut Out in Football Balloting

The marked imbalance in the Ivy Football League, which saw four teams in the race for the championship until the final day and the other four tied for last place, is reflected in the selections for the All-Star Team made by the eight coaches. Of 26 places awarded, 22 went to the co-champions, Brown and Yale, and the two third-place finishers, Dartmouth and Harvard.

Columbia and Penn shared the remaining four, Cornell and Princeton were shut out. A year ago, the Tigers placed tackle Ted Schiller on the defensive team as a junior for their lone representative, but this fall, Schiller had his problems, including an ankle injury that hobbled him for the last four games, and was by-passed in the balloting.

Princeton's season-long problems were reflected in the fact that whereas the 1975 nominations saw the Tigers place Schiller on the first team and five others on the second, only two players were named to the second team this fall. Captain Dan Fournier is the split end on offense, safety Pete Bartlett was one of the backs on defense.

Two others rated honorable mention: end Hank Howarth and middle guard Marc Fiorvanti. All four are seniors, so the Tigers will not start the 1977 season with any players the other coaches considered top-drawer material this fall.

Dartmouth led in the number of representatives chosen with seven, Harvard and Yale each placed six, while Brown trailed with three. The Bruins' overall balance and depth proved adequate for a share of the title in the absence of a higher number of individual standouts.

Brown's Paul Michalko was the choice at quarterback, succeeding Harvard's Jim Kubacki, whose slide from his top form in 1975 was symbolized by his failure to achieve anything more than honorable mention this year. The running backs are Yale's fine junior, John Pagliaro, and Harvard's Tom Winn.

Yale's position as favorite in the 1977 race is reflected by the choice of three juniors and the lone sophomore on the first team. Of the 26 players named, 17 will graduate in June. In addition to Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard were each represented by two juniors and Penn by one.
